A Chapter in the History of Cornwall Motor Sales

RECEIVING THEIR GOLD WATCHES.

President of Cornwall Motor Sales (1989) Ltd. Marcel Belanger. Retirees Ken Jarvo, Rod Antoine. General Service Manager Denis Lapierre and G.M. representative Brian Riendeau.

Cornwall Motor Sales has been a household name in the Seaway Valley for many years. From the days of selling farm machinery and taking horses on trade to selling state of the art Cadillac Allantes.

Two technicians have recently retired from this local establishment and left us with this information in parting.

Kenneth Jarvo, a native of Cornwall and son of Austin and Mary Jarvo, started his career at CMS directly from high school. A graduate of Cornwall Collegiate and Vocational School receiving his automotive training from Norman Finch.

The year was 1943 and the service manager was Bazil "Buzz" Barkley. And Ken's first job was on a Studebaker. His pay was twenty-eight cents per hour when the cost of a mechanic's tool chest cost between $400-$500. In comparison those same tools would cost in the vicinity of $3,000-4,000. Ken preferred the good ol' days because of far less complicated cars. An event that Ken will never forget was when a fellow technician drove a car off the 2nd storey roof of

SYLVIA'S slant

By Sylvia Hall

There has been a lot of bad news in the papers recently. It's really depressing. However, some of the news is quite funny. I'm sure you have all heard about the Mustang Ranch in Nevada, U.S.A. It is a legalized brothel, that has been taken over by the U.S. Federal Government for nonpayment of taxes. The media said it went belly up, and is bankrupt, which seems like a contradiction, if you think about it. It does seem strange for a brothel to be operated by the Feds. This means that the "ladies" will be civil servants and have to pay income tax. I wonder if they will get a government pension plan. I don't know which government department controls the Mustang Ranch, but I would suggest the Natural Wildlife Society. Of course once they get on their feet and are successful they will be off their feet won't they. They appointed a woman in charge. Will they call her "Madam".

Then there was the newspaper ad, for which Leona Helmsley paid $45,000.00. It was addressed to Saddam Hussein. It appeared on the same day that the same paper was promoting a TV special about Mrs. Helmsley in which she was described as a very nasty person. Who alledgedly ill treated her staff, was very much disliked and referred to as the "Queen of Mean". How could she afford to spend so much money to accuse someone that she has probably never met of abusing other people. Funny eh?

Given the very troubled and volatile situatuation in the Gulf, with so many lives at stake, why would she do it. We all know about the terrors of Saddam's rule, but when the situation is trying to be solved in a diplomatic way, it was no time to be provocative.

Then there are the politicians and the economists who orate at great length, starting with "On the one hand, de da de da.....". Then they say "On the other hand de da de da.....". None of it makes much sense, so what we need are one-armed politicians and one-armed economists who will have to be very decisive, because they won't be able to say "On the other hand".

Then there was the story from Spain. A toreador lost the sight in one eye. This one-eyed bull fighter created a great fuss and caused considerable damage to an office when they refused to re-new his license. Somehow the thought of a one-eyed toreador (though sad) seemed very funny to me, and sure beats reading about "blind" politicians. The U.S. has a Stealth 'plane. It's there but you can't see it. We have had a summer of stealth politicians. Where were the Prime Minister, the Premier of Quebec and the Mayor of Oka when their constituents needed them.

Kids are funny too. They are angels or brats, depending on which side of the fence they live. If strangers did to you what your little ones do to you, you would probably be calling the police. They start off keeping you up all night, then before you know it you are waiting up half the night for them to come home. They don't want to eat when food is cheap, then they get roaring appetites when food is expensive. They eat at their friends' homes when you have that extra large casserole, but bring their friends' home for dinner when you have barely enough to go around and it's the day before pay day. It's no time at all from the day they don't want to get into the car or be strapped in a car seat to the day they want the car keys and strap themselves into the driver's seat.

Well it's Fall and getting cold. Let's hope it gets cold enough for Mr. Wilson to keep his hands in his own pockets instead of ours, It was funny really to see Atlanta get the 1996 Olympics. They have the Braves and the Falcons, so you can understand why they would spend $7 million to get the games. They just want to see someone win in Atlanta. I heard that they had bumper stickers saying "Go Braves go, and take the Falcons with you". The idea is to keep your chin up, in keeping with the prices. The only things you can call Fall are the season and the stock market.

French Only School Notices An Unnecessary Aggravation

It was one of the those small incidents which carries huge symbolic significance. Trustees with the French panel of the SD&G Catholic School Board decided earlier this month to ban bilingual notices in all 23 francophone schools.

Even more curious was the exception to the rule: bilingual government notices will be permitted. Only bilingual non-profit organizations are banned from the bulletin board.

In adopting their own equivalent of Quebec's infamous sign law, the trustees have unnecessarily fanned the flames of linguistic discord.

More disturbing are comments in a local paper attributed to Trustee Jeannine Seguin.

"We are developing a bilingual culture rather than a French-Canadian culture," she is reported to have said with a disapproving tone.

"Francophone-ness ... is on the way to destroying itself," she also noted. "Soon our culture won't be French-Canadian; it'll be bilingual."

Such comments about the dangers of bilingualism will come as a surprise to the many anglophones who have been told for years that millions of tax dollars are being invested to create a bilingual country because bilingualism is a good idea. What is going on here?

I agree completely with the French trustees' desire to create a French milieu within their schools. That is clearly a legitimate goal. However, in the case of notices, we are talking about means of communication with the outside community. And Ontario is 94% English-speaking. Surely, the trustees do not want to create a ghetto mentality among their students. Contact with the outside community will not always be in French only and to insist otherwise displays both arrogance and naivite.

The new policy might have a kernel of legitimacy if it were applied universally, but the decision to exempt federal, provincial and municipal government notices only underlies the hyprocisy of this new policy. You don't have to think hard to figure out why the exception was made. Governments hand out grants. Principles do have their limits, it seems.

In other words, you can send us your bilingual notices as long as you send us money at the same time. In short, the main victims of the ban are those non-powerful, non-profit clubs and organizations who can't fight back. It is patently absurd to suggest that such bilingual notices would undermine the cultural milieu in French schools when trustees can ensure that all books, all language of instruction and all internal memos and notices are in French only.

Ironically, the only reason groups in the community produce their material in both languages is to demonstrate their support for and commitment to the French-speaking population. Bilingual material is designed precisely to honour and respect the French-speaking community. And it isn't cheap to produce this stuff. Now, some narrow-minded trustees have twisted this respectful gesture into a form of oppression.

Government agencies spend millions of dollars encouraging companies and groups to produce bilingual material. Now we have schools – funded by those same governments – denouncing bilingualism. Such is the idiocy of language policy in this country.

CORRECTION

Re: Letter of Oct. 8th/90 issue from Mr. John Lariviere "Since its inception, Canada's Language Act has cost taxpayers an amount that exceeds the national debt. A conservative estimate would be about $50 billion. Ontario is NOW compounding the taxpayers' burden with another version of language services."
Editor's Note: Previously read "Ontario is not compounding ...". We apologize for the typo.

Test driving tips

(NC)—You should always test drive a car before buying it, according to automotive specialists at General Motors of Canada. And yet, perhaps as many as half of all car buyers hand over their money before even putting the key into the ignition, they report.

The time to check out a vehicle thoroughly for fit, finish and convenience is before buying it. There are a number of things to look for before and during a test drive, say the GM auto specialists. These include:

Is there enough room in the trunk for groceries and other typical loads? Can they be lifted in and out easily? Once in the vehicle, can you adjust the seat to a proper fit? Move your right foot from the brake pedal to the gas pedal, then back again. Do your legs and knees clear the steering wheel, dash or knobs? Can you reach the steering wheel comfortably, with elbows flexed?

AUTO FACTS

Reach for every control. If you smoke, try the ashtray and lighter. Can you live with the arrangement? Try the glove box. Easy to open? Enough room? Pretend you're passing a car and pulling in front of it. Can you see out the rear window? Are there convenient storage areas for commuting items, such as notepad, change, maps, cups, garage door opener? And be sure to try the back seat for legroom and comfort.

Once out on a test drive, does the vehicle drive straight? On any kind of pavement? Is the ride smooth and comfortable? Can you correct the steering easily after turning a corner? On the highway, is there sufficient power to merge and pass easily?

Bond Market Darkness All Around Us

It seems a shame that in order to become positive about a market the outlook has to be negative but that's the way things look for the bond market.

This view results from a rapidly deteriorating economic growth outlook which has already generated some declines in the Bank Rate. Our firm in particular is looking for a decline in The Canadian Prime lending rate from 14.75% currently to 12.50% by early Q4 and to 11.50% by late 4Q of 1990, early 1991.

With this in mind investors will find that by focusing on those bonds with acceptable coupon rates in the 5 year range of maturity they will maximize their potential for both rate of return (fixed) and a capital gain. According to our rate of return analysis on selected bonds across the yield curve (as set out in our Summer Strategy) five year bonds should produce returns ranging from 16.3% (the optimistic case scenario) to 12.55% (pessimistic case), with 14.85% the most likely return over a one year horizon.

As usual the investor must become comfortable with his outlook for the economy and interest rates before he would embark on this strategy.

So where are we?

The economic slowdown is being confirmed by reported declines in consumer credit and business loans, leading indicators, retail sales, housing starts and a significant decline in the Consumer Price Index to 4.3% in June compared to 5.5% in January of this year. It would seem that no matter what indicator you look at, they are all showing that something bad is or will happen.

The only other indicators that I put a lot of faith into are lagging indicators and by this I mean tend to confirm a slowdown is upon us. Thus as unemployment starts to rise (and I don't need to highlight Cornwall here) and wage settlements trend down, we will have the final evidence that a significant slowdown is underway.

The Bank of Canada however always waits to see that its high interest rate policy has had an effect. That's why we usually get well into these things before they make any major moves.

Nonetheless in response to the slow growth we have seen so far the bank rate has declines 57 basis points since June 21 and with more room to go.

Assuming that the Canadian dollar does not nose dive in the meantime and there is a case to be made for a prime rate cut shortly.

As this rate decline gets underway and the economic slowdown continues those investors who have been so happy in T-bills will or should scramble to lock in some attractive rates of return.

With all these investment alternatives, the one question that has yet to be answered is one that I often ask myself ... something like will I be outside looking in or inside looking out.

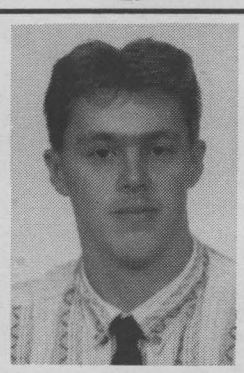
MEET THE CORNWALL ROYALS



Jeremy Stevenson

Jeremy, the Royals first round midget draft pick, sixth overall, just turned sixteen years of age at the end of July. Playing for the Elliot Lake midgets last season he collected 39 goals and 65 points plus 203 minutes worth of penalties in 61 games. Jeremy has the size, 6'-2" and 198 pounds, to back up his aggressive style on the ice. He's adjusted quickly to the major junior level and scored his first goal on October 7th in a 5-1 victory over Belleville.

This Time In History

A capacity crowd of 4,000 jammed the rink on October 19th for the grand opening of the Civic Complex. The famed Roger Doucet performed his rendition of Oh Canada and rookie Pat Crombeen scored the first goal in Complex history at the 1:22 mark of the first period. The Royals were victorious in their coming out party, 5-4 over the Sorel Black Hawks.

COACH'S CORNER

by Marc Crawford

The Kingston Frontenacs were supposed to be the weak sister in the Leyden Division this season. With the graduation of eleven players from last years hockey club. What has happened is that two average players Bob McKillays and Geoff Schneider have steadied a team with a lot of Rookies. Their Rookies have been among the best in the league led by Kelly Corpse who many are calling a young Dale Hawerchuk. Their returning players who saw limited duty last season are playing their hearts out to ensure they don't lose their spots.

the old building at 2nd St. by accident. For those who don't remember, that was where they used to park cars. In conclusion Ken had this to say to future aspiring mechanics, "Just do your best and remember that the driving safety of your customers depend on you."

Our second retiree is Roderick Antoine, son of James and Sarah Antoine. Roddy spent his early childhood growing up in the rural area of Avonmore on Windfall Road.

He started his career as a reconditioning technician on April 13, 1948. Ernie Sheewan a Kiwanis Club member told Roddy of the position and he decided to make it a life-time career.

His favourite car during his stay was the 1955 Chevy, a personal favourite to many other readers I'm sure. His starting salary was 45¢/hr. His favourite excuse for remaining a bachelor all these years, "I couldn't afford a wife." And no he won't give out his phone number.

His unforgettable moment was when he was moving a 1965 Envoy Epic down from the second floor when he noticed there were no brakes. He ended up in a cement wall at the bottom of the ramp because a mechanic failed to put a caution sign on the windshield stating the brakes were faulty. Worst of all, in the confusion he hit the gas and ran into the wall a second time. As a footnote in closing, Roddy says "I must have wanted to quit fifteen times but I always stayed. I guess I was treated fairly."

Cornwall Motor Sales wishes to again thank two gentlemen who were dedicated to their profession.

The deadliest fish in the world

The harmless looking silver and brown speckled piranha is the deadliest fish in the world.

The blood-thirsty fish of South America's Amazon River has jaws containing triangular shaped teeth as sharp as razor blades.

These meat eaters can strip an animal or human being down to a skeleton in just minutes.

Because the piranha has a huge appetite, it will go after any bait on a fisherman's hook. They will even go after one another. Once a piranha is hooked, the rest of the school will not hesitate to devour it.

So the next time you look into a fish tank and see a little piranha swimming around inside, don't forget it's not as cute as it looks!

†10.9% financing offer available with no limit on the amount financed on new and unused or demonstrator 1991 and prior year models of Chevrolet Cavalier and Pontiac Sunbird purchased from dealer inventory. Offer valid for a limited time starting September 27, 1990 on retail purchases only.

Some models may not be immediately available from dealer stock. Fleet orders are ineligible for this offer. The buyer will be responsible for the payment of applicable taxes, including federal excise tax, insurance, licence and applicable freight charges at the time of the transaction. See your individual dealer for freight charges. Offer available only to qualified retail buyers financing their purchase through GMAC on a minimum 12 month/maximum 48 month contract. GMAC may require a down payment. All credit applications will be subject to approval by GMAC. Offer includes dealer participation.

Or choose $750 cash back in lieu of the 10.9% financing offer on new and unused or demonstrator 1991 and prior year models of Chevrolet Cavalier and Pontiac Sunbird. Offer applicable only to qualified retail buyers and can be applied to the transaction or taken as cash direct from the dealer. This Cash Back offer cannot be combined with the 10.9% financing offer. Assuming a $750 cash back as the alternative, legislation requires that the value of the cash back be included in the cost of borrowing example in order to arrive at an effective interest rate. In the example illustrated above, the effective interest rate would be 13.55% A.P.R., and the total cost of borrowing including the $750 rebate not taken would be $3,608.88.

*Based on 1990 model year-to-date combined sales of Chevrolet Cavalier and Pontiac Sunbird through August 31, 1990.

‡Compared to MSRP for air conditioning and automatic transmission at $1833.00. Dealer may sell for less.

How big is the Milky Way?

The Milky Way is a galaxy—a huge group of many millions of stars . There are more than a billion other galaxies in the universe. Some are smaller than the Milky Way and some are much bigger.

The sun, moon, earth and all the pianets make up the solar system. Though it seems huge to us, the solar system is only a small part of the Milky Way. The rest is made up of clouds of dust and gas, and more than 200,000,000,000 stars.

To get an idea of how big the Milky Way is, think in terms of how fast light travels. Light travels from the sun to earth in eight minutes. But it takes 100,000 years for light to travel from one end of the Milky Way to the other!

The Milky Way has an oval shape, with stars fanning out from the center in a spiral.

KNOW YOUR ELECTRICITY
By Brian Bedard

Importance of Grounding Electrical Circuits

The first and most important wire in a circuit is your ground wire, that's the bare copper wire. This wire is what protects you and your property from electrical shock and fire. Your entire house, from the panel in the basement to the light in your attic, will all have grounds.

Every C.S.A. approved fixture, appliance or tool will have a ground attachment. When a short to ground occurs, the ground wire gives a path for the electricity to travel away from the person operating the appliance. In effect if there was no ground wire, the current would pass through the body, as the body would act as the ground wire. There would be potential for the body to receive a lethal shock.

All junction boxes, receptacle and switch boxes have screw terminals in them for connecting the ground wires. The grounding starts when your circuits leave the electrical panel, then branches out to the rest of the house circuits. At each branch circuit there would be a ground wire installed. This ground wire would be bonded with the present ground, from the previous circuit. This ensures a complete loop.

All portable appliances must be equipped with a three prong plug, with the "U" shape part of the plug being the ground. This only applies for 110 volt plugs. When the voltage increases there are different types of plugs used. To test that the ground is correct, you would do a continuity test. This test consists of placing a OHM meter lead on the ground prong of the plug and the other lead on the metal frame of the appliance or tool. Switch the OHM meter in the OHM selection position. If you have full deflection on your meter this would indicate a good ground connection. If you have no deflection or partial deflection it would be an indication of trouble with your ground connection.

You can see the importance of having properly grounded circuits. As little as 1/10 of an amp at a 110 volts will stop the heart from beating. That is about as much power as a transistor battery puts out or less. If you plan to do any repairs or renovations of electrical circuits, ensure that all your grounding is done correctly.

Let RE/MAX® be your guide to THE BEST BUYER'S MARKET IN YEARS

If you're buying your first home, or looking to move up, the residential real estate market couldn't be better. With RE/MAX listings in every neighbourhood and price range, and full time, professional RE/MAX agents working with you every step of the way, you're sure to find the home you want. The homes offered here, could lead to the most profitable investment you'll ever make.

First Steps Towards Buying A Home

The purchase of a home can be one of the single most exciting events in your life. It will also represent what is probably the largest single investment you will ever make. By working closely with your RE/MAX Sales Representative to look for a home, you can ensure that the initial excitement over finding the "perfect house", becomes long-term contentment as you settle into your "dream home".

There are several steps that you can take to ensure smooth sailing.

❒ KNOW WHAT YOU CAN AFFORD

Before you start looking for a house, speak to a RE/MAX Sales Representative. All RE/MAX Sales Reps have extensive experience in helping people find their ideal home. They have developed expertise in the area of mortgage financing and can help you determine the price range in which you should be looking. When the time comes, your RE/MAX Sales Representative can direct you to the financial institution that is best equipped to serve your needs.

❒ ESTABLISH YOUR GEOGRAPHICAL COMFORT ZONE

Have a look around the neighbourhoods in which you think you might be interested. Check the location of schools, stores, churches and sports and entertainment facilities. Investigate taxes and zoning for the area. Your RE/MAX Sales Rep can fill you in on many of these points.

❒ DETERMINE THE COST OF UPKEEP

There is no such thing as a maintenance free home. Experienced RE/MAX Representatives are able to point out areas that may need special attention after you move in.

❒ KNOW YOUR PRIORITIES

Don't let the colour of a house, or the type of fence surrounding it, put you off. Recognize that these things can easily be changed. However, it's not quite so simple changing room sizes or the number of bathrooms. Know what things you must have and what things you can live without. Don't be afraid to tell your RE/MAX Sales Rep what you want. You'll save yourself time and effort.

❒ BE PREPARED FOR CLOSING COSTS

Don't be caught off guard when the secondary expenses begin adding up. When figuring out your closing costs, include legal fees, moving day adjustments, land-transfer taxes, survey, title search, mortgage insurance (if you have a high-ratio mortgage). Check with your RE/MAX Sales Representative to make sure you have included all the necessary fees in your budget.

CAPITOL

The publisher of this newspaper very kindly agreed to permit space for this column to keep you informed on the Capitol situation.

I apologize that we had no update for you last week. We were all working on a comprehensive information package for the new Premier and his Ministers.

We have shown Premier Rae that we are ready to join with his government as "community partners" so that Cornwall will be able to boast that we are the "HOME OF THE CAPITOL." With its national significance, the Capitol will draw tourists to the area, as well as providing and important focus for the growing cultural base in our city.

By the time this paper is received into your hands, the thirty day hold on the demolition of the Capitol will have passed.

I had a personal reminder of the horror of demolition last week. A friend brought me a copy of the front page of the Standard Freeholder issue of Feb. 24, 1955. It showed a photograph of the old post office clock tower falling to its finish, and provided a blow by blow description of this event. The public outcry at that time wasn't enough to stop PROGRESS and Cornwall lost and important landmark.

Now, thirty five years later, history could be repeated, if the province of Ontario permits city officials to proceed with the demolition.

I have confidence in our new Premier and trust that the prayers of hundreds of Cornwall believers will be answered.

The Capitol will be saved!

Johnny Brunet Sings With His Friends

(J.L.B. Records #1 - Available at Melody Music)

Johny Brunet was born Oct. 25th in 1936, into a large family of eight sisters & seven brothers. Five were musicians.

His talents were recognized when, in the early 50's, he & brother Rene won first prize on the Hillbilly Hoedown Amateur hour which was M.C.'d by the late Carl Fisher.

In the 60's he made appearances on Channel 7 (Sherbrooke, Que.) on the Roger Miron Show; Channel 5 (Plattsburgh, N.Y.) morning show with Frank Paps & Cable 11 (Cornwall). During this time, the group formed their own band, "Ben-Dee & the Country Ramblers". With the death of Benny Dumond, Johnny Brunet was to take over the group. Tragedy struck again when, steel guitar player, Maurice St. Germain met with an unfortunate accident. Over the years, Johnny has performed with Leo Boileau, Smiling Jack, the late Ernie Baribeau, Smokey Martin, Jerry Leger, Wave Owens, Dusty King Sr., Frank Ruffo Sr.,the late Ludger Samson, the Caron (Jerry & Leonard) Brothers, as well as brothers Rene, Ferne, Emile, Raymond & (sister-in-law) Marie.

A fan club journal was started up by Mary Pidgeon & Jossie Pidgeon of Lancaster which was in publication for 29 years.

Johnny started recording in 1964 with two recordings on Clik Records. This was followed with "Johnny Brunet Sings" & "Featuring Johnny Brunet" both cut on Rusticana Labels (from Montreal) and distributed by London Records. One recording on Rolly Polly Label & three on Moon Label (which he used to own but is no longer in circulation). His latest recording is under "Les Disques Amid'Or" Label from Valleyfield, which is doing well in both Canada & U.S.A.

Johnny's talents are supported by his charming wife, Monique, Daughter Suzanne (who recently made them first-time grandparents) & son Serge who plays drums in the band.

The band has performed for Senior Citizens functions as well as various charities. "Johnny Brunet & the New Country Ramblers" are available for bookings by calling (613) 933-2832 or (613) 938-2732.
