The Weave Shed Theatre Project a Great Success!

The Weave Shed Theatre Project has had great support from the Cornwall business community during their recent, first fundraising effort. The Theatre, a small 150 seat, flexible space theatre, nestled into the high ceiling, wood post and beam structure of the Weave Shed, will be able to attract small professional theatre companies and finally give small non-professional theatre a home from which they can create, inspire and entertain us. The theatre will be able to accommodate groups for lectures, seminars and recitals, adding much to Cornwall's cultural life, as well as Cornwall's businesses.

We would like to thank our major contributors, The Waterfront Development Committee; Adams, Sherwood, Swabey and Follon and Cornwall Warehousing Ltd.

Also, a big thank you to our raffle sponsors, businesses who have generously donated some very exciting prizes for our raffle. Two, full, one year membership to Physical Limits courtesy of Jason Christoff. A theatre weekend in Toronto donated by Fern's Travel. Source Wood Products, a donation of a hand carved, hand painted loon. Kathy's Framing Gallery has donated a framed limited edition print by artist Lena Loo called "Bluebird and Dandelion".

We would also like to thank our catering and food sponsors. The Arts Gala '97 is being catered by the CCVS Culinary Arts Program students and Chef John Ciampaglia; and food sponsors for the evening are Maynard's Your Independent and Delaney Fine Fish & Seafood Wholesale.

Arts Gala '97 would also like to acknowledge the following companies for their ongoing support: Barbara's Florists, City & District Steeplejacks Ltd., RE/MAX Cornwall Realty Inc., St. Lawrence Testing & Inspection Co. Ltd., The City's Department of Planning, Parks and Recreation, Future Office Products, Nativity Hall and Le Village BIA.

Atkins Returned for Another Term as President of Seaway Valley

Bud Atkins, representing Stormont County, has been re-elected to another term as President of Seaway Valley Farmers Energy Co-operative Inc. Seaway Valley Farmers Energy Co-operative is constructing a 55-million litre per year ethanol manufacturing facility in the Cornwall Industrial Park.

"I appreciate the strong support demonstrated by our membership, and the Board of Directors, in allowing me to continue to see the job through as we construct our $48 million ethanol plant," said Atkins. "We have been working on developing this value-added processing facility for the residents of eastern Ontario and 1997 will see a lot of tangible results."

All of the members of the Board of Directors of Seaway Valley up for election were returned to their positions. Joining Atkins on the Seaway Valley executive for 1997 are Edward Schouten, vice president; Alain Leduc, secretary; and Richard Fraser, treasurer. Jean-Marie Menard has retired from the board, leaving the membership of the body at eleven.

"Seaway Valley has come a long way in five years," said Atkins. "In the next few weeks the final financial package will be in place and construction will start at our plant site in earnest. While we are behind schedule, we anticipate the plant to be fully operational in late spring or early summer of 1998."

Selling A Second Residence Could Be Less Taxing For Some

(NC)—The gain realized by an individual on the disposition of a principal residence is not included in income and therefore, is exempt from taxation. Before 1982, it was possible for individuals to arrange their affairs so that, if two properties were owned, (e.g., a residence and a cottage), the residence would be registered in the name of one spouse and the cottage in the name of the other spouse. This resulted in husband and wife enjoying the benefit of owning two principal residences and avoiding any taxation on the disposition of either property.

For 1982 and subsequent years, a family unit—husband, wife and children under 18—is permitted only one principal residence. If on December 31, 1981, each spouse owned a principal residence, they must agree on which property is to be designated as the principal residence for subsequent years. The other property must be valued as at December 31, 1981, and any gain realized after that date must be included in income as a capital gain. No designation needs to be made until the first year that one of the properties is sold.

It is still possible to obtain the benefits of two principal residence exemptions by transferring one of the properties (preferably a property that has not appreciated substantially in value) to a son or daughter over the age of 17 who currently does not own a principal residence. When that property is later disposed of, provided that it otherwise qualifies as a residence of the individual, that individual may claim the principal residence exemption and avoid any taxation on the disposition. Careful evaluation of the alternatives may require professional advice.

Good Time For Renters to Buy

By Tom Burnside, Manager Cornwall, Toronto Dominion Bank

Buying their own home some day is the great dream of many Canadians who live in rental accommodation. If you are one of those people, the time to turn your dream into reality may have arrived. Experts estimate that over 25% of renters can now afford to buy their first homes.

Market conditions have probably never been better for first time homeowners. There is a wide selection of homes available at affordable prices. The correction in real estate values that occurred in the early 1990s has brought house prices within reach of over a million Canadian renters. In fact, when you check it out you might even find that the cost of home ownership is less than the cost of continuing to rent.

The price of housing is not the only factor in making home ownership affordable. In fact, it may not even be the biggest factor. Today's low interest rates play an important role. With interest rates at current levels, you may be surprised at how little your regular monthly mortgage payments could be. In addition to low rates, the competition among financial institutions for mortgage business means that you can sometimes find special offers such as interest rebates that make first time home ownership even cheaper.

"That's all very well," you may say, "but how do I get the down payment I need in the first place?"

Again the time is right for first time buyers. Two government programs that are in place make it easier than ever to own your first home. The First Home Loan Insurance Plan, for example, makes it possible to buy your first home with a down payment of as little as 5% of the purchase price.

Then there is the Home Buyers' Plan which lets first time home purchasers borrow up to $20,000 interest free from their own RRSP for the purchase of a house. Couples who both have RRSPs can borrow up to $20,000 from each of their plans. And if your RRSP isn't large enough, it may be possible to borrow enough to top it up so that you can take full advantage of the tax rebate in purchasing your home.

With availability, low interest rates, interest rebates and favourable government incentives you might be one of those million plus Canadian renters who can now afford to purchase your own home. The best time to check it out is now.

For more information on how to finance the purchase of your first home, talk to your banker or feel free to call the TD Access Telephone Banking at 1-800-983-2265 or 9TD-BANK.

Work Space in the Home

(NC)—More and more Canadians now wake up across the hall from the office, instead of across town. If you are thinking about working at home, you should be aware of certain tax considerations.

The Income Tax Act limits the circumstances under which a self-employed individual can deduct the costs related to a work space in the home to situations where the space is used exclusively and on a regular and continuous basis for meeting clients, customers or patients, or the work space is the individual's principal place of business.

The claim may be based on the proportionate space of the home used as a work place. Eligible qualified expenses would include rent, mortgage interest, realty taxes, insurance, utilities and maintenance. It is generally not advisable to claim capital cost allowance on the home, because that portion of the home would then not qualify for the principal residence exemption when sold.

Similarly, claiming 50 per cent or more business use of the home or making major structural alterations to adapt it to business use will trigger a "change in use" resulting in loss of the principal residence exemption.

The amount you may deduct is limited to your income from the business before claiming any deductions for work space in your home. Any such restricted amount may be carried forward and claimed in the subsequent year against related business income.

For more tax tips, pick up a copy of Personal Tax Planning, published by the Certified General Accountants Association of Ontario, and available at participating public libraries and Business Depot stores across Ontario.

Sandblast...Just A Great Success Story

It's always been a great volleyball weekend, and this year will be no exception. Sandblast '97 is set to roll at Farran Park, Ingleside, June 27, 28 & 29th.

A maximum of 80 teams from across the province will gather for a two-day beach volleyball tournament designed to raise money for The Lung Association, Eastern Counties.

Sandblast began six years ago as a fundraiser for the T&M Brewers old-timers hockey club in Ingleside; but as the tournament expanded, the Brewers began looking for a charity to take it over. They chose The Lung Association, because of it's commitment to community programming and because the association already participated in an outdoor recreational league in Cornwall.

Friday afternoon and evening is set aside mainly for the teams to register and set up their camping site. Friday night is the "Blast-Off" party at Lakeside Inn featuring Illegal Limit, back by popular demand for the fifth year. Saturday the action begins, with a full day of sun, sand and volleyball. Saturday night, more live music as we bring the day's events to a close, then Sunday the volleyball schedule will wrap up with the championship games in the spotlight.

Again this year, there will be a cut-off point of 80 teams. The first 80 teams with paid registration fees will be given top priority. Registration kits are in the mail to all teams who participated in the past. If you have not as yet received your information kit, please contact The Lung Association office today.

The tournament entry fee remains the same this year at $150 per 6 or 8 person team. This includes camping at Farran's Park (east side) for two nights, team souvenirs for all who participate, cash prizes, and at least two games of volleyball.

The Three Divisions will be:

Recreational, for people who have played some, and are familiar with the sport and rules of the game.

Open, for the organized teams that want a higher level of competition,

Over 35, depending on the demand.

This year there will be a new twist as an incentive prize. Pledge forms are available for all players, and the person who is successful in collecting the most pledges will win an official outdoor volleyball net and ball. Pledges will help off-set some of the costs involved in organizing this fundraising event. Money raised at this event will remain in the Five United Counties, to assist in delivering programs and services to help families living with lung disease.

If you would like to register your team; become a sponsor; advertise your business in the Sandblast Advertisers' guide, offer your time as a volunteer, or for more information on Sandblast '97, please call The Lung Association at 932-4999 or 1-800-450-5202.

It's a weekend of "Fun In The Sun" while supporting a good cause, and remember always,

When You Can't Breathe, Nothing Else Matters.

Const. Dunlop Deserves Some Apologies

PERSPECTIVE

By Bob Roth
SEAWAY NEWS

Constable Perry Dunlop was back at work last week with the Cornwall Police Service.

Frankly, I doubt if he will ever be the same.

I don't know how this honest cop is going to get through a day working with those very superiors who persecuted him for literally doing his duty - as two hearings proved.

Not only that, while exposing the cover-up of a child sexual abuse allegation against a priest and a church-sanctioned pay-off, Dunlop and his wife had to endure the shunning of fellow parishioners and other "good Catholics" who berated him publicly.

What is it about our society that we seek to punish the good, while letting the dishonest off with a slap on the wrist?

Yes, Dunlop is back at work. But this man's health - both his physical and mental health - will never be the same. That's one reason he is suing the police service as well as numerous individuals. It's a damn shame that honesty brings with it such a terrible price.

Dunlop proved he was right when he argued that there was enough evidence to pursue a case involving allegations of child sexual abuse against a former local priest. But some officials in both the church and the police service apparently wanted this issue conveniently swept under the rug. One lawyer has already pleaded guilty to impropriety in this case and the priest was subsequently charged with seven counts of indecent assault on three former altar boys.

It is important to note that whether the priest is found innocent or guilty is not at issue here. That is for the courts to decide. What Dunlop insisted was that there was enough evidence to warrant a fuller investigation than officialdom wanted. The charges prove he was right.

Under our legal system, the priest must be presumed innocent until proven guilty, but if he is found guilty there will be a lot of red faces of former parishioners who started a petition in his support while implicitly condemning Dunlop.

In fine Christian tradition, I hope these petitioners will have the grace and charity to ask Const. Dunlop for his forgiveness if a guilty verdict is, in fact, rendered. I expect as much from His Excellency Bishop LaRocque.

Dunlop had to go back into uniform because his long-term disability had ended. I doubt that he's as ready as he'd like to be. Having spoken to this man on many occasions, I wonder if he will ever fully recover from the ordeal of being hounded by officialdom for trying to keep our streets and our kids safe. This was the kind of battle that leaves permanent wounds.

And the lawsuits are still to come.

"We're just taking it one day at a time," said Perry's wife, Helen. "The nightmare isn't over by any means. We're going to stick with it until the end."

That's what it takes, I guess, to see justice done - sticking it out to the bitter end no matter how much personal damage is done to you.

That's real courage. And it's just as physically and emotionally dangerous as facing a thief with a loaded gun.

By the way, if you happen to pass Perry in the street sometime (and you recognize him from his photo in the newspaper), take a moment to stop and thank him. It's the least each of us can do.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Fighting Back

Dear Editor:

I am a retired B.C.L. employee of 28 years and was forced to retire because of arthritis and total hip replacement. We bought our 367 acre farm to retire on in 1966. We worked day and night trying to raise our eight children and pay for this farm. Land owned by the Ministry of Natural Resources almost totally surrounds us. They finally built part of their portion of the line fence after the Fence Viewers forced them to. However, along the swampy area they did not build. Therefore, our cattle got out on Road 27, along the Railroad and Highway 401 which we kept constant watch on. It took three days and three nights to get the cattle home.

I was taken to court for trespassing on a public road to get our tractor out of the swamp. The Ministry's fence was laid down in order to do so and promptly put back up again in five minutes. I spent three different days in court, plus finger printing and photographing; like a desperate criminal with a record.

Because Rick Hollingsworth of the Ministry of Natural Resources was not allowed on our property, he watched and harassed me for fighting back. This was like a nightmare causing sleepless nights and a depressed feeling. I don't think this harassment should be allowed in this free country. This is just a small part of the harassment we have received.

Clarence Shaver,
Summerstown.

P.S. September, 1996: I have just received a summons to go to court on a mischief charge for creating a gate across a trail to keep our cattle of the road. Because the Ministry of Natural Resources did not finish or maintain their part of their fence, I had to erect a gate, or sell our cattle for next to nothing.

P.P.S. April 9th, 1997: I have just received a lawyer's bill for over $800.

Editor's Note: Looks like an item for the Ontario Ombudsman (1-800-721-9909).

None of the Above

Dear Editor:

Someone should form a political party and call it "None Of The-Above" - The N.O.T.-A. Party. If Canada is not-a country, (Lucien Bouchard) let's elect a politician from the N.O.T.-A. Party to govern this not-a country. Now this makes a lot more sense than the clap-trap I've been hearing lately. Vote for nobody. Elect a no one to lead the N.O.T.-A. Party, and take this not-a country to never-endum land.

This isn't that far from being un-true, you know. The None Of The Above Party, ... what an idea! What a plan! How about the "I'm Not Sure Party?" "Hey Fred, who are you voting for this time?" "I'm not sure." I got it! How about the "I Don't Know Party?" "Hey Bill, who are you voting for this time?" "I don't know, how about you?" "I'm not sure." "Well, if I'm not sure and you don't know, let's vote for that new party, The None Of The Above Party, ... they're a bunch of nobodies with a nothing leader going nowhere, but any place is better than where we're at right now. " So elect a nobody to save Canada, from the everybody's who keep voting for other than None Of The Above.

- The N.O.T.-A. Party. It's better to have nothing, than be in the hole.
- The N.O.T.-A. Party, for the nobody's of Canada.
- If you're not sure, vote for None Of The Above.
- You can be sur,e if it's NOT-A Party.

Me? I'm Not Sure,
Edward F. Benson,
Alexandria.

Good People Can Make A Difference

Dear Editor:

Writing about Constable Perry Dunlop's return to work, Claude McIntosh used the term "outright contempt" of some of his co-workers. Outright, it leaves no room for any other thought.

The Somalia Affair is a glaring example of "evil triumphs when good people do nothing." Some did try.

These events remind me of when St. Peter and John healed an over-forty crippled beggar and were hauled into court, instead of being happy that one of their citizens was not only healed but off their welfare system of panhandling, the rulers, elders and scribes asked, "By what power or name have you done this?" The apostles were happy to testify, "by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom you crucified, whom God raised from the dead ... does this man stand here healed". (Acts 3:10). Amazed, yet sticklers for the law, instead of saying "Go ahead," they warned them not to speak or teach in the name of Jesus. They believed the lie that was spread after the crucifixion that the apostles had stolen Jesus' body, guarded by sixteen Roman soldiers, yet didn't expand their minds to ask themselves, "Why should these apostles risk their lives for a dead body?"

Is human nature any different today? Only Jesus can change it.

Later, the disciples were accused of "turning the world upside down." (Acts 17:6), but like only people of conviction and courage can, they were turning the world right side up.

We need more of that today.

Imelda Wheeler,
St. Andrew's.

Liberals, Not A Government To Write Home About

MEANWHILE...

Fred Sagel

Oh, how the election takes its twists and turns!

There was Liberal leader Jean Chretien last week, proclaiming how much his party had done for the economy and how much Canadians had prospered under his regime. Boasting proudly, he was grinning from ear to ear, citing his government's numerous accomplishments.

But wait. Let's do a reality check.

If you asked yourself the question: "Are you better off today than you were four years ago?" you'd probably pause and think.

And think you should. Because you're not.

The income of the average Canadian -- after inflation and taxes-- was still falling in the final quarter of 1996 as it has consistently for the past seven years. While some forecasters believe that more jobs and higher wages will begin pushing incomes up this year, it sure hasn't happened yet.

While the Liberals can boast of some economic gains that sure weren't evident in 1993, they are also saddled with responsibility for the economy's failure to deliver those gains into the hands and pockets of many Canadians.

While investors had a good run under the Liberals, those who work for their income -- especially the 1.6 million who were unemployed when the Liberals took office and the 530,000 who have joined the work force since then -- have experienced a slow growth in employment and the squeeze on incomes have made the pickings less generous.

In as much as the federal deficit has been cut substantially -- and the Liberals deserve some credit for that -- it has been accomplished largely through cutting transfer payments to the provinces and increased taxation: not nearly enough has been cut from government spending.

The Liberals could have nearly balanced the budget by now if they hadn't indulged in pork-barreling and failed to cut their own expenses.

Instead of really taking a knife to government expenditures and cutting out the waste -- and there's plenty of it especially when you read what the National Taxpayers' Coalition has to say -- the Liberals have simply offloaded costs onto the provinces.

That is why, for example, hospitals and health care in Ontario are suffering. It isn't the fault of Mike Harris. He's pumped more money into health care than his predecessor governments. What's happened is that the federal Liberals reduced their share of Ontario's hospital costs by 2.2 billion last year, leaving the provincial government holding the bag.

So, if you want to blame anybody for the health care problems in Ontario, for example, just point the finger at the federal Liberal party. They have taken money out of one pocket just to have it reappear in another. Not much courage in that feat, especially considering the fact that most people don't understand how federal transfer payments work.

Deficit reduction in the past fiscal year was due, in part, to a $6.3 billion surplus in the Employment Fund. If that money had been rebated to businesses, it would have boosted cash flows, increasing hiring and reinvestment, which also indirectly creates jobs elsewhere.

But did the Liberals do much about this? Not at all.

Unemployment has been stuck at around 9.5 per cent since late 1994. And the average Canadian's after tax income fell to $17,030 in 1996 dollars a year in the final quarter of 1996 from $17,211 three years earlier.

Since the cry of "jobs, jobs, jobs" was the centerpiece of the Liberals' 1993 election platform and since they haven't managed to accomplish that goal -- an impossible task at best since government doesn't create jobs, only job opportunities -- the Liberals deserve a lot of blame for trying to deceive the public with these false claims.

This has not been a government to write home about. With all their lies about the GST, the funding of the CBC, jobs, childcare and a whole host of other issues, they have not fared well. Add to that their near-fatal impotence in reacting to the national unity issue during the 1995 Quebec referendum and you have a formula for failure.

So ask yourself if you're better off under the Liberals today than you were three and one-half years ago when they took office. If you answered "yes" you're either one of the lucky ones or a fool.

Think about it.

SEAWAY NEWS

Thank heavens for the Fortean Times --I thought perhaps it was just me.

The Fortean Times is a British journal that tracks weird happenings and unexplained phenomena around the globe. And the latest issue of the Fortean Times claims the world became weirder last year. Two point nine percent weirder, to be precise.

The journal has published an Index of Weirdness which is divided into four sections: Animal, Human, Natural and Paranormal. After careful analysis, Fortean Times editors have announced that last years weird stories, including bloodthirsty goatsuckers and fossil bacteria on meteorites, have catapulted the planet onto a whole new plateau of The Bizarre.

Bloodthirsty goatsuckers? You missed that story? The Puerto Rican press has reported goat corpses that have been found with the blood--and even the livers--sucked right out of them via a pair of Dracula-like incisions in the neck. Nobody knows if the vampire culprit is winged, four-legged or favours a walking stick and a cape, but reports of His/Her/Its handiwork are showing up in Colombia, Brazil, Miami and the south of Spain.

Pretty weird alright. The other story--the one about fossil bacteria being found on a 16-million-year-old meteorite will be even weirder if it turns out to be true. It would confirm a century of Sci Fi speculation about the possibility of life on other planets.

Alas, the scientists are squabbling over the veracity of the specimens, so the jury is still out.

How does the Fortean Times explain the upshot in weirdness? They say it's due to PMT.

That's Pre-Millennial Tension--the anxiety that subconsciously infects us all as we lurch toward the year 2,000. "PMT is gripping people" says a spokesman for the Fortean Times. "People get worried near the end of a century, with millennium cults predicting the end of the world. And that could explain why there is so much interest in the paranormal."

Well, maybe. And maybe the editors of the Fortean Times are affected too.

Because I read the whole issue and didn't find a single mention of some of my favourite weird stories from last year.

Where for instance, is the story on the Indestructible Cake? How about the greatest golf feat of all time which came out of Korea last year?

The cake story originated in the U.S., where last year, researchers at the Army Soldiers System Command managed to create a pound cake suitable for soldiers in the field. This cake can survive a fall from an airplane and temperatures that range from 120 degrees Fahrenheit to minus 60 degrees Fahrenheit. Oh yes, and it has a shelf life of five....years.

That's pretty scary too.

Perhaps that should read 'official public relations agency' of North Korea. All I know is last year the North Korean press reported that "Dear Leader" Kim Jong II played his first game of golf in astonishing style, scoring five holes-in-one and beating the world record for a single round of golf by 25 strokes.

Since we're in the realm of comic relief, let me report another weird happening the Fortean Times appears to have missed--the rising incidence of Comedian Abuse.

Last November, Al Romero a comedian in Lancaster, Pa., was cracking wise about hicks from Arkansas when a customer by the name of Judy Strough (of Arkansas) walked up on the stage and slugged him.

Two weeks earlier, comedian Timothy Ward filed a lawsuit in New York City against Prince Rainier of Monaco who, Ward says, backhanded him during a 1995 show in which he made fun of the Prince's eroding hairline.

First Puerto Rican goats...then comedians...is nothing sacred?

By the way, if you're reading this, Judy or Prince.....

Just kidding, eh?

PROCLAMATION

Emergency Preparedness Week' 97

"Can It Happen Here"

"Know the risks in your community."

The week of May 5-11, 1997 marks this year's "National Emergency Preparedness Week". Canadians all across the country are participating by taking time to identify and learn about the risks in their community. Knowing the risks you face is the first step to being prepared.

You may think it could never happen in our area. But the truth is, it can happen anywhere, anytime. While many people know about emergencies that can happen in other parts of the world, they are often unaware of the risks in their own backyard. Disasters and emergencies are devastating and the effects are immediate and unforgiving. But if we are prepared, we can lessen their impact.

Our community has a plan to respond to any disaster or emergency that may occur here. The risks identified in this plan include: chemical incidents, major storms, earthquakes and tornadoes.

One of the highlights of Emergency Preparedness Week is a drawing contest being delivered through our schools for students in Grades 4-6. Students are invited to submit a drawing to showcase natural or human-caused emergencies (i.e., severe weather events, train derailments, forest fires, chemical spills, etc.) that could occur in our community or region. A first place winner will be selected in each province and territory. The federal government will award each first place winner with a trip for two to Ottawa, where a national winner will be selected. The national winner will have their illustration featured on the 1998 Emergency Preparedness Week Poster.

Emergency preparedness is everyone's responsibility. So start now to prepare yourself and your family.

On the Money
with Gordon Pape

PAPE'S TIP: "Most sales charges are negotiable – use your bargaining skills."

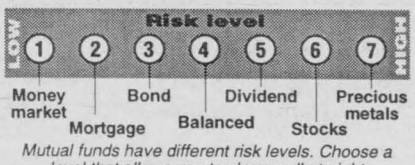
Choosing the right mutual fund

Canadians have some $180 billion invested in mutual funds. Consider them if you'd prefer professional managers to make your investment decisions, or if you only have a few hundred dollars to invest.

Why so popular?
- Easy to buy: Available from banks, trust companies, brokers, financial planners.
- Choice: Over 1,200 funds in Canada, specializing in everything from Treasury bills to commercial real estate.
- Diversification: Small investment buys share in large portfolio.



Mutual funds have different risk levels. Choose a level that allows you to sleep well at night.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR
- Performance. But there's no guarantee a top-performing fund will continue to do well.
- Philosophy. Is your main objective to preserve capital or to score big gains? Find a fund that matches your goals.
- Cost. No-load funds charge no sales commission; load funds do. Compare cost to expected return before deciding.

MONEY STRATEGY: Never pay more than 4% commission for a load fund, regardless of rate quoted. Most sales charges are negotiable.

South Mountain Rink Receives $3,000 Boost

Look out ... the rink in South Mountain will soon be a top-notch facility. The Mountain Township Recreation Association recently decided to allocate $3,000 from its capital funds budget to the rink project.

The money will be used to put a cement surface on the rink.

After being asked why he plans to use cement and not asphalt, Peter Vandesande, president of the South Mountain Recreation Association said "Cement may be more expensive, anywhere from $8,000 to $10,000, but there is no maintenance or upkeep once it is in. He also stated that, "local hockey players and skateboarders will able to use the facility in the summer."

North Dundas Senior Concert Band Invited to Concert

After recently performing at the Kinsmen Music Festival in Cornwall, the North Dundas District High School's Senior Concert Band has earned an invitation to the prestigious Concert of the Stars.

Policing North End

North Glengarry's transition committee held a meeting recently to decide who will police the north end of Glengarry county. A decision was made to ask both the OPP and the Alexandria police for costing proposals to police Alexandria, Lochiel, Kenyon and Maxville.

Presently Alexandria has it own police force while the rest of North Glengarry is policed by the OPP, but with amalgamation taking effect on January 1st, 1998, the new municipality will likely go with one police force.

Dillabough To Run For Reform

Charles Dillabough, a 32 year old Dundas county resident was chosen to represent the Stormont Dundas Reform party at a nomination meeting recently.

Dillabough won the local Reformers support over nominee, Isabel Banner.

Dillabough's main campaign issues are reducing government misspending and funnelling more money into vital areas of health care and education. Another priority is to balance the national budget, then provide tax relief to Canadians while starting to reduce the national debt.

Hospital Board Calls for More Cuts

A cut of approximately six full-time equivalent positions will have to be made by the Glengarry Memorial Hospital in order to comply with their new operating plan.

The hospital's spending will shrink by just over $325,000 to $5.3 million in 1997, and staff hours and spending will be reduced accordingly. Salaries will also fall by $234,846 to $3.4 million, more than half of this $144,315 will come from cutbacks in nursing salaries.

Darren Marleau Wins

At the launch of Education Week activities, it was fitting that the Public School Board honoured the 1997 recipient of the Terry Fox Award.

Darren Marleau, a student at Gladstone Public School, was so honoured in a brief ceremony. The citation accompanying the Terry Fox Award and outlining the qualities and attributes of this deserving individual is as follows:

Darren Marleau

"It matters not how straight the gait, who charged with punishment the scroll, you are the master of your fate, you are the captain of your soul."

The Stormont, Dundas & Glengarry Public School Board is pleased to recognize Darren Marleau as the recipient of the Terry Fox Award, 1997.

The Board recognizes, in Darren Marleau, an excellent candidate for this year's Terry Fox Award in that Darren has shown, and indeed continues to show, a great deal of personal growth and strength while at the same time maintaining and keeping up a strong commitment to the service of others.

Darren Marleau was born on August 10th, 1984 with Spina Bifida and faced challenges from the outset. It is noted that Darren has undergone a multitude of operations, and in so doing, has faced and overcome one of his biggest battles in being able to face these new situations and the stark reality of facing surgery again and again. Over the past few years everyone has observed Darren as he has conquered many of his fears and as he has developed an inner strength that is truly admired by all. Witness to this is Darren's recently completed surgery which was faced with a calm and philosophic attitude that was exemplary.

South Nation Conservation Forest Management Changes Hands

The South Nation Conservation is currently negotiating a "new deal" concerning the management of over 8,000 acres of forest land. The land which is owned by the SNC was managed by the Ontario Ministry of Resources under Forestry Act agreements. Recent provincial restructuring has left continued management of these lands in question. SNC sees local management as a viable alternative.

SNC has been joined by fourteen other agreement forest owners to discuss with the local Provincial negotiator the security of the future of these important forest area.

Envirothon Winners Announced

If you could 'identify the following jaw sample and explain the purpose of the molars of this particular animal', then you too could have been part of the Regional Envirothon Competition held on May 5th, at the St. Lawrence Parks Commission's Long Sault Parkway.

What a day it was. 10 teams of 5 Eastern Ontario high school students competed during the morning on five topics they had spent the last few months learning about - Wildlife, Forestry, Soils, Aquatics and Pesticides. Each topic was presented to them in a one day outdoor information session in April and through binders and handouts. The students, usually part of a high school environmental club, studied hard to compete today.

It was a tight match, first and second place determined by only a quarter of a point. The two winners which will now advance to the Provincial Envirothon Competition in Oshawa May 14 and 15, are Char-Lan District High School (347-2441), Williamstown and General Vanier Secondary School (933-5500), Cornwall. The winner of the provincial finals will go on to compete in the international competition to be held in Johnstown Pennsylvania in August.

Envirothon is an Olympic style environmental event involving high school students. It originated in the United States and was pilot tested in Eastern Ontario 3 years ago by the Ontario Forestry Association, Domtar Forest Products and the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources. Today's partners also include the St. Lawrence Parks Commission, the Raisin River Conservation Authority, and the Stormont Dundas and Glengarry Public and Separate School Boards.

Congratulations to all the participants.

LOOKING BACKWARD

By Stuart L. Manson

The Wood House: A Migrating Museum?

The idea of moving the United Counties Museum (in the Wood House) to Lamoureux Park has been on the minds of Cornwallites for more than a quarter century. At the recent annual meeting of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Historical Society, those on hand were given one vision of how such a move would occur.

Consultants Michael McClelland and Iàn Gray from Edwin Rouse Associates (the firm that is presently conducting the feasibility study) were present and described in detail how the museum could be moved. They also explained the new features that would result in its relocation.

It was suggested that the main stone building and the brick extensions could both be moved, and so they should be since they are integral parts of the structure. The move would be undertaken by setting the building on large steel beams thrust under the foundation and transporting it as such. This is a much preferable method than dismantling the building, since that method is costly and destructive to many architectural elements of the house, particularly the interiors.

Landscaping will play a key role in the new facility. Once moved to a new location at the foot of York Street in the Park, landscape architect Ian Gray proposed that a series of terraced gardens could be placed behind the house, between it and the river.

In the coming months, the much anticipated question of how much this will cost will be released. The consultants have not yet arrived at that stage of the study, but they have indicated that a full cost analysis will appear in the final report. As always, this will be a huge factor in the decision as to whether or not the Wood House is moved. This type of engineering feat is expensive, so the decision will likely come down to how important the project is to the community and the museum itself.

The question is a prickly one on many fronts. Purists would naturally oppose a move since it not only removes the building from its original lot, but it would also destroy some of the historic qualities of the house.

But the counter-argument to that position is simple. The growth of the adjacent industries over the years has enveloped the museum in a nightmare of pipes, smokestacks and the constant rumble of machinery and heavy traffic. It is hardly situated in the idyllic farmhouse setting that it once knew so well.

This situation has rendered the museum less productive or inviting for visitors than it could be in another location. Moreover, the waterfront migration of the Wood House has already received basic municipal approval since it has been part of the city's Waterfront Play for some years.

The issue will make the coming year be an eventful one for both the museum and the community as a whole. For now though, the house will remain on the spot where it was constructed one hundred and fifty-seven years ago.

New Cruiser Emergency Light System

The Ontario Provincial Police is introducing a new emergency light system for its cruisers for enhanced visibility and safety.

The familiar roof bar which has been in use since the early 1970s is being replaced by an aerodynamic array of flashing lights shaped in a forward-facing V-pattern.

In the process to select a new system, a sub-committee of police officers reported to the OPP Transport Section on the results of experimentation with several light systems, which were mounted on OPP cruisers deployed to different parts of Ontario. The sub-committee's final recommendation was to purchase units manufactured by Federal Signal Corporation. Among factors the officers took into consideration were the design, which reduces vehicle drag and the degree of visibility, which enhances the safety of officers and the public.

Strobe lights are being mounted on the corners and rear decks of the cars to complement the new roof lights.

It is expected that a total of 900 OPP cruisers will be fitted with the new light system during a three year implementation period.

AUTO TALK

Four Wheel for Real?

(NC)—Q: Will getting a four wheel alignment make that much of a difference compared to a two wheel alignment. I have a 1975 Chev and never had more than a two wheel alignment done (front end), but the last time I visited my garage, they suggested that I get a 4 wheel alignment. Incidentally, a four wheel alignment costs twice as much.

A: Before the advent of new alignment technology, it wasn't possible to align the front wheels exactly with the rear. A technician could try to visually align them, but this was not an exact science. Today's 4 wheel alignment machines take the error and guestwork out of the process, and the result is a more accurate alignment. This will give you improved steering and longer tire life. I believe you'll be pleasantly surprised by the difference.

Refusing Reverse

(NC)—Q: My 1980 Buick Riviera, with a 350 V8 engine and automatic transmission, has an annoying habit of hesitating when reverse is selected. When the car is parked facing downhill, it rolls forward before reverse engages and sometimes, it won't go into reverse at all until the engine is warmed-up. Once the torque converter locks up, there doesn't seem to be any clutch slippage. Any thoughts on what could be causing the problem?

A: When your car is on an incline, the problem is probably being caused by oil draining out of the torque converter. I'd say that it could be a faulty anti-drainback valve in the transmission. In most cases, the valve can be reached by removing the transmission oil pan. This is relatively simple and can easily be done by a local auto service centre.

Repeat Small Actions Consistently

There are two ways to save money—setting cash aside and avoiding costs. When it comes to your car, cost avoidance is often easier. The trick to being Auto Smart is to repeat many small actions consistently over the years. By applying the kind of techniques listed below, your car won't cost you the world, and the world won't suffer as much:

• If you use snow tires, remove them as soon as the snow starts disappearing. They have an "aggressive" tread that increases fuel consumption.

• Remove portable roof racks when they aren't being used. They create more airflow turbulence which increases aerodynamic drag. And that's a drag because it makes your engine work harder resulting in increased fuel consumption.

• Learn to "flow through traffic" in order to avoid stops and starts; they consume extra fuel. Maintain generous space between your car and the one ahead, and anticipate the movements of other vehicles so that you can drive smoothly around them.

• If you have a manual transmission, remember that lower gears burn fuel faster. When possible, always drive in a higher gear.

• Avoid "flooring" your gas pedal from a dead stop. "Jackrabbit" starts burn about 50% more fuel than normal, gradual ones.

An Ounce of Prevention

The least expensive parts of your car can often save you the most. Spark plugs and air filters, plus motor oil and radiator anti-freeze don't cost very much, but by ensuring that they are replaced regularly, you can save hundreds if not thousands of dollars in repair bills; especially if your car is on the older side. Preventative maintenance keeps our cars running more efficiently and therefore saves fuel. Less fuel means that fewer emissions are being pumped into the air. It also means more money in your pocket.

Canada Plays a Major Role in Ford's 250,000 Vehicles

When Ford Motor Company built its 250-millionth vehicle somewhere in the world last October, Ford of Canada emerged as the top producer among 29 countries outside the United States where Ford has manufacturing facilities.

Total car and truck production in Canada has surpassed the 20-million mark, exceeding the 18-million vehicles assembled in Great Britain and 17-million in Germany.

The establishment of Ford of Canada on August 17, 1904 marked the first expansion of Ford Motor Company beyond the U.S. borders, leading to a global expansion that today includes 185 manufacturing plants in 30 countries.

In its first year in business, the struggling young company turned out 117 cars with 17 employees who earned an aggregate total of $12,000. Last year, the company's 14,000 employees produced 533,000 cars and trucks and received $1.2 billion.

In Canada, production capacity at three assembly plants totals 180 vehicles per hour, or three per minute. Three vehicles - the Ford Windstar minivan and full-size Cornwall Victoria and Grand Marquis - are produced exclusively in Canada and exported to worldwide markets.

Ford of Canada produced its 10-millionth vehicle 72 years after being founded by a group of young Canadian businessmen who formed a partnership with Henry Ford, just a year after he started Ford Motor Company. Production of the next 10-million vehicles required just 20 years, largely because of the expanded North American market created by the Canada-U.S. Autopact.

Ford of Canada has just completed the largest investment and expansion program in its 92-year history, involving expenditures of nearly $5 billion and the creation of 2,000 jobs since 1992.

Water Test

UNDERSTANDING YOUR CAR
TIPS FROM Walter

(NC)—Your new car looks beautiful today and you'd like to keep it looking that way, right? A new product. Carmadillo, keeps vehicles looking new using a brand new chemistry which protects the paint rather than temporarily sealing it. This new product is quite different than traditional paint sealers. The more important difference is the way water is dispersed. Sealants encourage water to bead. In fact, this beading is common selling feature. However beading is actually a negative thing—i concentrates acids and contaminants which are then baked into the finish when the rain stops. Beading actually encourages finish deterioration. With Carmadillo, you'll see the water sheet off, leaving a smooth dry surface after the rain. Contaminants spread out and flow with the water as it sheets off the vehicle surface. Today's automotive paint is very different from the paint of the past. For environmental and safety reasons. i contains none of the strong solvent~lead pigments and other ingredients that were once the basis of automotive finishes. This modern paint, unfortunately, is much softer and more vulnerable to deterioration from sun and environmental contaminants. As well, acid rain, smog and pollution have worsened, contributing to potential deterioration of automobile exterior finishes. Once Carmadillo is applied. a regular wash with the supplied Carmadillo Wash/Renewer keeps the vehicle gleaming and keeps the protection at full efficacy. Waxing or polishing are never necessary. Carmadillo is available from new car dealers across Canada. Try it, it works.

S.L.H.S. Student in the Spotlight

by Mohamed Abdul

On September the 27th, 1979, in Cornwall, the life of Patrick Dupuis began. Like any other children, Pat attended school. At the age of eight, when he was in grade three, Patrick and his family moved to the big city, Toronto; there he attended school for two years completing grades five and six, after which Pat and his family once again moved, this time to the Northwest Territories.

In the Northwest Territories he lived in a small town called Norman Wells. The population of that town was no more than five hundred. In Norman Wells, the weather remained at sub zero temperatures for most of the year and warm weather only lasted for a couple of months. During some parts of the year, the day was only a mere few hours long and the rest of the day was covered by darkness. Pat lived in Norman Wells, until he reached grade eight; then his parents decided to send Pat back to Cornwall to live with his uncle because in Norman Wells, schooling went up to grade eight only.

In Cornwall, Pat got accustomed to his new environment very quickly; he made new friends and developed an interest in hockey. In school, he considers himself an average student and his favourite subject is physical education. Even though Patrick is currently not involved in any school-sponsored activities, he does other things which keep his daily schedule pretty hectic. Patrick plays for the house league in Cornwall as a goalie. He attends martial art classes as well; Patrick's current rank is a yellow belt but he is advancing very quickly. Also, Pat signed up for the army reserve in Cornwall to be part of the Glengarry Highlanders. He plans to take summer courses with the reserves this year as a part time employment and to advance his career in the military.

Even with his busy schedule, Patrick still finds time to enjoy the quality things in life such as listening to Alanis Morissette CDs, and watching his favourite actor, Jim Carey, perform in blockbuster hits such as Ace Ventura and Dumb and Dumber. He plans to graduate from high school this year to pursue his dream of becoming an animator, working for Walt Disney and creating animation for the whole world to enjoy.

Ethnic Day

On Sunday, September 14th, 1997, Branch 297 Legion, in conjunction with the Cornwall & District Multi-Cultural Council will be holding an "Ethnic Day" as the opening of Legion Week and it's the hope of both groups to have representatives from all the ethnic groups that are part of the population of Cornwall.

The days activities will start at approximately 3:00 p.m. on Sunday, September 14th, 1997 and each ethnic group is requested to walk behind the National Flag of their former country; also each ethnic group will be requested to either sing the National Anthem of their former country or perform a dance that is representative of their culture.

There will be a buffet supper at approximately 5:30 p.m. and members of all ethnic groups will be guests of Branch 297. There will be a dance after the supper from 7:00 to 11:00 p.m. at a cost of $5.00 per person to pay for the band. Each ethnic group will be requested to bring a sample of the food that is part of their culture to allow all who attend the opportunity to enjoy the different foods of from the various ethnic areas present.

Branch 297 Legion feel that since so many of their members are in some way, because of their military service, part of the reason for the various ethnic groups deciding to make Canada their new home that the Legion is the most appropriate group to host such an event and are hopeful that a great number of ethnic groups will be proud enough of their cultural heritage and more proud to be Canadian that they will make that extra effort to be present.

At the present time the following ethnic groups, in alphabetical order, are taking part: Chinese, Dutch, Estonian, Filipino, German, Hellenic, Hungarian, Indo/Asian, Italian, Jamaica/West Indies, Japanese, Jewish, Korean, Mohawk, Polish, Seaway Celtic, Slovak and South Africa. As you can see by the list there are many more ethnic groups that can and hopefully will participate.

Interested ethnic cultural groups are requested to contact either Branch 297 Legion at 933-4965 or Teresita Yee at 932-6263 or 932-4944 to leave the name of the ethnic group and the name of the person who will be the contact. We look forward to hearing from all the cultural ethnic groups in the Cornwall area.

HELLO ... IS THERE ANYONE OUT THERE?

We want to remind everyone out there that this is your public forum ... we need to hear from you, so mail, fax or drop off your little anecdote or gossip to:

329 2nd St. W., Cornwall, Ont, K6J 1G8 Fax 933-0024

A mention in the Winchester Press last week stated that in 1947, the village of Winchester notified all dog owners that dogs were not allowed to run at large. They had to be tied from sunset to sunrise as a safeguard to sheep. 'Any dog running at large, doing damage to person or property and being vicious may be killed by the village constable'. Just to think,, we still have the same problem fifty years later!!

Smart solution: Keep your flowers fresh - to extend the life of fresh-cut flowers and keep them from drooping, add a few drops of vodka to the water. The alcohol disinfects the water, suppressing the growth of bacteria, thus keeping the flowers alive longer.

Don't forget to check out the first annual trunk sale for the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (OSPCA) on May 17th, at the Cornwall Civic Complex, east end parking lot. Proceeds will be used to offset costs of the shelter.

Bricks and bats to a north end gas station. My car failed to start on Wednesday and when I went over to see them, they told me it was probably the starter and they were too busy to look at it. However, when I went over to Benson, they came right away, brushed off the battery cables, gave me a boost and voilà, my car is on the road again! So thank you, Benson.

Must be a "sign-of-the-times" when teenagers and young adults cannot browse through a "sports store" without being followed and then asked to leave after ten minutes when not making a purchase. Perhaps store owners should realize that our teenagers and young adults have very expensive taste and usually end up going back to purchase with their parents. Don't paint all the young people with the same brush!!

Thought for the week: Forgive and forget; sour grapes makes a bad beverage.

Congratulations to WILLIAM LAUGHLIN BEATTIE and MARTHA TESSIER, both residents of Sandfield Place, who celebrated their 100th birthdays together recently. Family, friends and other residents joined them in the celebration and best wishes.

Engaged couple expresses their disappointment with a local East end restaurant/hall on May 6th. They were celebrating their upcoming nuptials when the manager, that evening, came over to say a complimentary bottle of champagne would be served to them and their party. After waiting close to two hours the champagne finally arrived as they were leaving. They were not too impressed.

HOROSCOPES

May 11-17

Aries – March 21/April 20

You feel like screaming at work this week, because it seems that everything you do is causing problems. Don't worry; it will be over soon. Just continue to fix any mistakes that arise. As for your family life, it's going well. Loved ones are there for you to lift your spirits after a long week.

Taurus – April 21/May 21

The workweek seems to fly by. You finish a project that you've been working on for a long time, and it's time to celebrate. Your personal life gives you ample time to relax. Close friends are busy this week, so you've got a lot of time to yourself. Enjoy it while you can, because your phone will be ringing off the hook soon.

Gemini – May 22/June 21

Hold your emotions in check at work this week. It feels like a close friend and co-worker is stabbing you in the back. Before you react, make sure you get all of the facts. Things are not always as they appear. A close friend shows up on your doorstep with a problem. Open up your home — and your heart — to him or her.

Cancer – June 22/July 22

Remain calm as things get crazy this week. You'll be working a lot of overtime to finish up a major project, and your loved ones will be demanding your input in planning a family event. You can't ignore your co-workers or your family, so just try to help everyone out as much as you can.

Leo – July 23/August 23

The lion wants to roar this week as everything goes well at work and at play. Superiors reward you for all of your hard work, and friends take you out to thank you for always being there for them. That special someone finally calls to ask you out. Taurus and Cancer play important roles.

Virgo – Aug 24/Sept 22

While work is tedious this week, it also is rewarding. Even the most boring tasks can let your talents show. A close friend relies on you to be there for him or her during an important event. Even though you feel like a third wheel, he or she needs you. You actually can have a good time.

Libra – Sept 23/Oct 23

Work can wear you out this week if you let it — don't. When things get too hectic, take a step back, and collect your thoughts. Take a walk if that will help. To do your best, you have to stay focused. A loved one turns to you for help later in the week. Do everything that you can.

Scorpio – Oct 24/Nov 22

"When will it end?" You ask yourself this question a lot this week as your manager keeps pushing you harder every day. Don't get frazzled. Keep doing your best, and you will succeed. An old friend calls you up out of the blue and wants to get together. This is the perfect opportunity for you to get your mind off of work.

Sagittarius – Nov 23/Dec 21

Everything is coming up roses for you this week. You get a surprise bonus at work for all you've been doing. As for family relations, they're very strong. Loved ones thank you for the support you've been giving lately. A close friend introduces you to someone who is sure to become more than just a friend.

Capricorn – Dec 22/Jan 20

You finally complete a rigorous task at work. Now is your time to relax. Take Friday off, and get an early start on the weekend. You deserve it. As for your friends, they're ready to celebrate with you. Plan a getaway for all of you.

Aquarius – Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't get discouraged at work. While it seems like the week will never end, it'll be over before you know it. A co-worker with whom you don't often talk will be there to help you with a problem. That someone special throws you a curveball at the end of the week. Don't get upset.

Pisces – Feb 19/March 20

You feel like Superman this week as you keep going without a break. Superiors notice your efforts at work and reward you. Loved ones are amazed at your energy. Try to get as much done as you can, because you'll need your rest by Saturday.

SPRING HOME IMPROVEMENT

Trees Need Vitamins, Too

(MS) — Beautiful trees are one element that makes a yard look spectacular. Neatly shaped, disease-free, with healthy green leaves — these are the trees you dream about. How do you achieve these results? Give your trees a little care by starting with proper fertilization.

Many homeowners feel that when you fertilize your lawn, your trees also receive those nutrients. That, however, is a myth, because your lawn needs those nutrients. Grass roots are close to the surface, so they absorb the fertilizer fast and efficiently — leaving none for the trees. The best way to have a healthy lawn and healthy trees is to fertilize them separately.

According to Jennifer Mathews, of the Davey Tree Expert Company, trees benefit the most when fertilizer is applied below the surface where the most active roots are growing. A tree fertilizer spike, like Jobe's Fertilizer Spikes by Easy Gardener, reaches the feeder roots that are located 6 inches to 10 inches from the top of the soil. Another benefit of fertilizing underground is the elimination of fertilizer runoff caused by watering or rain. Using these spikes ensures that the proper roots continuously are receiving the nutrients they need.

Old trees also need nutrients, because they are less self-reliant than younger trees, says Mathews. As a tree grows above the surface, the roots are growing below the surface, and more nutrients are needed to support this growth. Fertilizing helps trees remain healthy, as well as recover from diseases and factors like drought and freezing temperatures. Regular fertilization processes will keep your trees healthy and protect them from future problems. By continuously feeding the roots for three whole months, Jobe's Fertilizer Spikes leave less chance for trees to experience stress and diseases.

It is best to fertilize your trees in the spring and in the fall. The spring is when trees are growing the most, and the fall is when they need to be prepared for cooler temperatures. Along with fertilization, pruning also helps trees not only stay neatly shaped, but healthy, too.

Remember to fertilize your trees this spring and fall by using spikes that will reach the feeder roots. Fertilizing your trees will bring beautiful rewards for years.

Jobe's Fertilizer Spikes by Easy Gardener can be found at most garden centers and chain retailers.

So You Bought a House With a Swimming Pool... Now What?

(NC)—You've been searching for months for the perfect home. One that's in the right neighborhood, has the right amount of space and the right price tag. And you've finally found it. There's even an added feature you might not have been expecting: a swimming pool in the backyard.

You're looking forward to the many relaxing days you'll spend poolside but you may also be concerned that you won't know how to take care of the newly acquired pool. Don't worry. Just as you learned to cut the grass and clean the gutters, you can learn to keep your new pool in top condition, too.

Maintaining a pool can be a simple routine if you know the correct information and a few user-friendly products and services. And fortunately for you, help is just around the corner... or a few miles away, depending on where this 'perfect house' is located.

Many new pool owners incorrectly assume that pool maintenance is a time-consuming chore. But once a pool is in top form, regular maintenance is as easy as 1-2-3.

Here are some basic pool care guidelines you should follow to take the guesswork out of pool care and ensure the water is in top form when you take your first dip. The first step should be to ensure that the water is balanced. A balanced pool will make regular maintenance easier and will prevent potential damage to pool equipment. To do this, take a sample of the pool water to your local pool and spa professional. BioGuard Authorized Dealers can provide a free, computerized water analysis of your pool water, as well as a customized prescription for bringing the water into top form.

Once your water is balanced, follow these simple steps to keep your pool clean and clear throughout the summer season:

- Step 1—Sanitize the water with stabilized chlorine to kill bacteria continuously.
- Step 2—'Shock' the pool to remove swimmers' wastes (i.e., cosmetics, perspiration, suntan lotion, etc.) and restore water sparkle.
- Step 3—Prevent algae by adding an algaecide to pool water.

These three steps allow pool owners to spend more time in the pool and less time maintaining it. The BioGuard Once-a-Week 3-Step Program includes all three steps in one easy-to-use program for simple and effective pool care.

So, go ahead and sign the contract on that new house and leave your worries behind. With these three simple steps to clean, clear water, your new pool is just one more reason the house will be the perfect choice for you and your family!

Keep Unwanted Elements Out of Your Garden

(MS) — You've put so much into your garden, but there are a lot of things you'd like to keep out of it — like weeds, birds and animals. Several products on the market now can help you keep your garden free of these unwanted elements.

You hate to see weeds popping up in the vegetable garden. One product you can use to prevent that is BioBlock, a landscape fabric that is made from 100-percent recycled fibers. You use this fabric the same as you would the popular WeedBlock. It blocks weeds throughout a growing season and then biodegrades. The innovative landscape fabric uses microfunnels, which help water and air pass through to plant roots, to help conserve moisture.

The biodegradable weed barrier is great to use for vegetables and annual flowers. It's also simple to install. You just pull at weeds until seedlings develop and then place the product between rows and cover the edges with soil. Your garden will be weed-free for the rest of the growing season.

Keep those birds away from your perishables by using BirdBlock, a protective mesh covering that forms a barrier between your garden and hungry birds. The product is harmless to birds, because it is made with small openings that keep birds from getting entangled.

Commonly used to protect fruits, berries, vegetables, and newly seeded gardens and lawns, this reusable product comes in easy-to-use rolls that can be unfurled over a tree and tied around the trunk.

Another product on the market helps keep deer away from your garden. DeerBlock, a protective UV mesh fence, stops deer, as well as other animals, from eating your plants and vegetables. The reusable item can be used as a fence, plant cover or border. The product will protect your shrubs, berries and vegetables. Like BirdBlock, DeerBlock comes in easy-to-use rolls.

If you're looking for a multi-purpose fence, try the Yard and Garden Fence. You can use the product for a garden fence, trellis or compost bin, as well as for any other area that you'd like to enclose. This fencing is simple to use, because it is very flexible and cuts easily. Included with the product are several heavy-duty fence ties.

With weed barriers, mesh coverings and a variety of fencing, you'll be able to keep your garden areas looking great year-round. These products may be purchased at most local garden centers, hardware stores or retail chains.

Wood Truss Frames Give You Larger Rooms At a Lower Cost.

(NC)—"Top chord." "Webs." "Clear span."

Is your home builder discussing modern art, a symphony concert, or the latest Internet site?

The answer is none of the above. These terms refer to some of the components of "wood truss framing", a modern building system that allows the weight of roofs or floors to be distributed over larger distances.

In homes built with wood truss frames, fewer interior supporting walls are required. Because the frames are fabricated off-site, the builder saves time, materials and labour — reducing construction costs.

Modern building techniques, such as wood truss framing, help make the most of wood, the only renewable building material — and help you make the most of your home buying dollar.

So be sure to talk to your home builder about the wood trusses that you'd like installed in your new home!

Give Your Landscape That Finished Look

(MS) — You've finally created the landscape bed that you've always wanted, but you're afraid the bed eventually will lose its shape because of its hand-produced edges. You'd like to put in some nice edging, but professional landscaping isn't in your budget, and you really don't think you could do it by yourself.

Well, think again. The edging products that are on the market today are not only attractive, but extremely easy to use. Take, for example, a product called Emerald Edge. This edging device lets you avoid altogether the trenching process that usually is involved prior to placing edging into the ground. The plastic, forest-green edging product comes in lightweight, 4½-foot-long sections that connect to form a continuous border.

With this device, all you do is lay a garden hose in the desired edging position and drive the edging into the ground by striking the top of it with a mallet. There are no coils, no metal and no digging to hassle with. Although it takes very little time to install, the product will last for years without having to replace or install pieces. Best of all, your landscape bed will stay the same shape it was when you first created it.

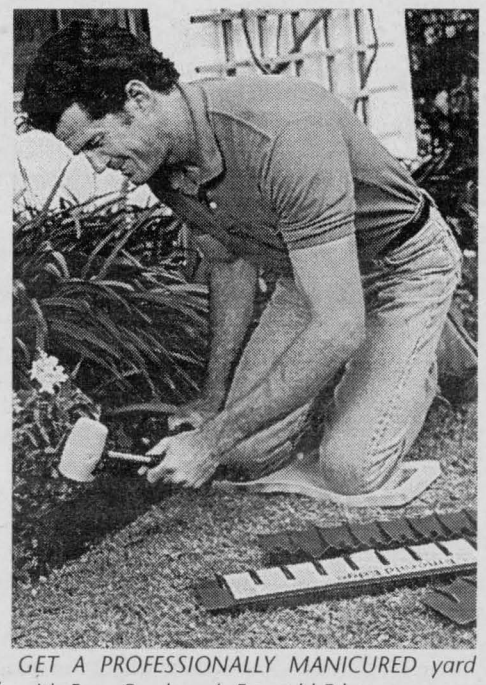
Maybe you want a fancier look for your landscape beds. You love the way terracotta and stone look, but think that this type of edging is definitely too complicated for you to install.

Try another edging product called TerraCotta Tiles. It lets you create a decorative border without a lot of fuss. The edging is an authentic reproduction of terra-cotta finish, but is actually made from high-density UV-treated polyethylene. Amazingly enough, this stylish edging is quite easy to install. TerraCotta Tiles come in packages of four tiles to create a 3-foot border. They connect to each other in a unique way that allows for curves and corners up to 90 degrees.

To edge with these tiles, all you do is place a hose in the desired border position and use a shovel or spade to create a wedge next to the hose. Then, you simply push the tiles into the ground as far as they will go.

With just a little effort, you can have crisp landscape beds and a professional look that you can enjoy for years without having to replace.

It's not only landscape beds that benefit from edging. Your entire lawn can benefit from it. One of the most popular products on the market today is Anchor Edging. People who use this lawn edging are recommending it to their friends continuously, because it's so easy to install and creates such a manicured appearance. At 5 inches deep, the edging not only stays in the ground securely, but it forms an impenetrable root barrier. The UV-protected, green plastic edging comes with a 100-percent guarantee from Easy Gardener. A system of "soil sockets" that really grip the soil is the secret that keeps the product in the ground, eliminating a common problem.



GET A PROFESSIONALLY MANICURED yard with Easy Gardener's Emerald Edge.

The lawn-edging product can be installed with three easy steps. First, you lay a hose in the desired edging position. Then, you create a wedge in the soil next to the hose with a shovel. Finally, all you do is drive the edging into the ground for secure placement.

All made by Easy Gardener Inc., Anchor Edging, Emerald Edge and TerraCotta Tiles can be found at most local garden centers, hardware stores and chain retailers.

Is Clean Air Part of Your Dream Home?

If you could have any feature in your dream home what would it be? Swimming pool? Chef's kitchen?

How about superior indoor air quality?

If you're one of the many Canadians with allergies, you just might have clean air on your wish list.

It's certainly nothing to sneeze at.

Indoor air quality has become an important area of research for Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC). Now this knowledge is available to the general public with two new products - - The Clean Air Guide and companion video This Clean House, a package of step-by-step directions on how to improve the air quality in your home.

Indoor Air Quality

Indoor air quality is a growing concern for Canadians. Now that we build more energy-efficient and air-tight homes, we may feel the effects of indoor air quality more, for better and for worse.

Because of lifestyle and climate, Canadians spend more than 90 per cent of our time indoors, much of it at home. That means indoor air quality - - and freedom from indoor air pollution - - at home is an important issue for everyone.

Public awareness of outdoor air pollution has been raised substantially in the last 20 years, but few Canadians realize the air inside their homes can be more polluted than the air at a busy intersection.

"Each of us can do things to improve the indoor air quality in our homes," says CMHC researcher Dr. Virginia Salares. "Everyone can benefit from a cleaner indoor environment."

Health Effects

Indoor air quality can have a significant effect on health. Just ask anyone with allergies.

In fact, studies show that at least 20 per cent of the Canadian population experience allergies and respiratory problems such as asthma. Symptoms can range from temporary to chronic, from minor discomfort to serious ailments. These people are adversely affected by poor indoor air quality.

Some people are more vulnerable than others to airborne pollutants. High-risk groups include children, the elderly, pregnant women and people with medical problems. A small proportion of the population are "environmentally hypersensitive" - - very sensitive to low levels of biological and chemical contaminants.

"Certainly, CMHC is playing an instrumental role in the growing understanding of the links between housing and personal health," says Dr. Salares.

Cleaner Air

A home is more than the sum of its parts, says Dr. Salares. "It is a complex, interactive system - - a mix of materials, technology and living beings. A home consists of the building envelope, the mechanical and electrical systems, and the people who live there. How the occupants live and how they maintain their home can affect the quality of air."

There are many environmental agents and contaminants in homes. And, there is usually more than one factor at work when health is affected.

"A single contaminant at low concentration may not be irritating. But a number of different pollutants can really add up," says Dr. Salares. "You might not realize you're living in a chemical soup."

Poor indoor air quality can be caused by many factors: mold, dust and dust mites, human activities such as smoking or excessive shower use, gases from building materials, and noxious materials in the home, from paint to shoe polish.

"There are three basic principles in improving air quality," says Ottawa builder Oliver Drerup. "Eliminate, separate, ventilate. That means get rid of the source of the contaminants, keep the material away from the living space, and get rid of the contaminated air."

Drerup has 15 years' experience building "clean air" homes in Eastern Ontario. In the video This Clean House, he acts as a consultant to a couple who suspect the air quality in their home is making them sick. Common problems are pointed out - - mold, chemical pollutants in the house, lack of ventilation - - and solutions are provided.

A quick way to check the air quality in your home is to take a sniff test. "The human nose is the most convenient pollution detector we have." says Drerup.

Shut your house tight and leave for an hour or two. Return and take careful note of all the smells you detect - - damp smells can mean mold, chemical smells can mean improperly stored home care and cleaning supplies.

The Clean Air Guide offers detailed checklists that enable you to evaluate the air quality in your home. It provides solutions to common problems.

For example:

- Create an allergy-free oasis in the bedroom. Use low-odor paint and leave out rugs and carpets.
- Don't warm up the car engine in the garage. Noxious exhaust fumes can invade the living space.
- Hang dry-cleaned clothes outdoors to air toxic fumes before hanging them in the closet.
- Store paint, lawnmower gas, fertilizers in an outdoor shed.
- Buy perfume-free cosmetics and personal care products.
- Seal surfaces of kitchen cabinets. Exposed particle board can release gases.
- Invest in a heat recovery ventilation system.

Maintaining the Appearance of Pressure-Treated Wood

More and more homeowners today are adding comfort, convenience and value to their homes and property with outdoor structures such as decks, fences, playground structures, vegetable gardens, planters and numerous other projects.

Pressure-treated lumber - the wood most commonly used for these projects - is typically purchased because it lasts outdoors, it's economical and it is an environmentally friendly building material. But, like everything else, it does require some maintenance to keep it looking good.

"One of the most often asked questions that consumers have is what maintenance is required to keep their pressure-treated wood looking good," says Roy Perkins, Manager of Rona Home Centre.

Pressure-treatment provides long-term protection against termites and rot. However, protection is required to maintain the wood's appearance against weather. Sun and rain cycles cause stress in lumber and result in swelling, shrinking, warping and cracking, which are natural characteristics of wood exposed to the elements.

Perkins offers these maintenance tips:

- To help protect your project against moisture damage, apply an effective brand of water repellent as soon as your project is finished. If you purchase water repellent treated wood, you can skip the initial application.
- When staining wood, follow the manufacturer's instructions. Wood should be dry for best results.
- For deck surfaces, semi-transparent oil-based or penetrating latex stains have been traditionally recommended. Innovation in the coatings industry has resulted in many quality products now available in the marketplace. Follow the manufacturer's instructions.
- To revitalize a dingy appearance caused by dirt and mildew, use a deck wash/brightener to clean the wood.

The ABC's of pool safety

Chemical safety: Take it seriously

- Always read directions for the use, storage and handling of pool chemical products. Do not overdose your pool, use the exact amounts specified on the label.
- Never mix chemicals together—the reaction could cause an explosion or fire may occur. Always add chemicals to pool water separately.
- Keep chemicals out of reach of children. Only a responsible adult should handle pool chemicals. Store products safely in a cool, well ventilated area. Always keep chemical containers closed.

The bottom line of most pool safety is to use basic common sense. Taking a responsible approach to safety can allow pool owners to have the worry-free enjoyment they deserve.

National Little League Week

June 2nd - 8th, 1997

Ottawa - Little League Canada announced last week that the first week of June has again been officially designated Little League Week. A tradition that began in 1959 serves to acknowledge the dedication of its volunteers and the desire to develop in young people "a feeling of fair play, community spirit and respect for the discipline of rules and decisions."

In officially naming June 2nd - 8th National Little League Week, Prime Minister Jean Chretien comments, "Baseball demands agility, endurance and a strong commitment to excellence. Your involvement with Little League testifies to the love of the sport; I know that you have met the many challenges of the past season with great enthusiasm and that you are looking forward to a new and exciting 1997 season."

Little League Baseball is the largest organized youth sports program in the world with over three million participants on 200,000 teams in 81 countries.

In Canada, there are currently 73,000 players on over 5,000 teams as well as 30,000 officials and volunteers. There are divisions for boys and girls in both baseball and softball and the Challenger division for physically and mentally disabled children.

Little League Canada is financially independent and operates a national program through the efforts of dedicated volunteers and one full time employee.

"Little League Week provides the communities an opportunity to celebrate their programs and acknowledge the efforts of the players, sponsors and officials" said Joe Shea, President, Little League Canada. Mr. Shea states, "1997 will see the launch of the newest part of Little League, the Little League Alumni." Details of this new initiative will be announced during Little League Week.

Olympia Golden Age Bowlers

Week two of the playoffs in the Olympia golden age league saw the Foxes move further ahead in the "A" group. They now have 100 pins over their nearest rivals, the Zebra and Panthers.

Question: will their bubble burst, or can they finish the playoffs like they did the schedule?

In the "B" group the Wolves lost 100 pins to the Buffalo in the second week, but still managed to stay ahead. They are 40 pins up due to a good start, although any one of three teams could finish first in this group.

In the "C" group the Cheetah finished fourth this week, but are still out in front, but only by 30 pins, this group is very close and anything could happen.

C.D.S.L. Season Starts End of May

The C.D.S.L. held its first player registration during the recent 2 week-ends of the Cornwall City indoor soccer tournament. While player registration was not as brisk as the executive would have liked there were very definite positives about this registration process.

Last year the C.D.S.L. had a league consisting of 3 Divisions, 2 Mens and 1 Ladies with 21 teams broken down like this:

Mens Div 1 - 7 teams, Mens Div 2 - 8 teams, Lds Div - 6 teams.

Following the registration week-ends the C.D.S.L. can now boast 25 teams with the extra 5 teams comprising 2 Ladies and 3 Mens teams, the Ladies teams come from Cornwall and Avonmore while the mens teams hail from Williamstown, Cornwall and Avonmore. This means that the divisions will now have the following numbers in them:

Mens Div 1 - 9 teams, Mens Div 2 - 9 teams, Lds Div - 8 teams.

While the exact figures for the players are not in yet we can reasonably expect that the number of players will go up from 350 last year to over 400 this year. This growth is possible due to the enormous success of the minor soccer programs in the S.D.&G. counties (Minor soccer in Williamstown has added a second day to their program to enable all, who want to play, to play.) and for the advertising done for the registration process. This alerted players to the possibility of playing soccer at a recreational level as they became to old for the minor soccer league systems.

The C.D.S.L. season will begin during the last week of May with exhibition games and league play will follow in the first week of June. The season ends early August followed by the play-offs. The season will be completed in time for the university and college students to go back to their respective colleges and universities after having enjoyed a full season of soccer.

BOILEAU

To my wonderful mother, Pauline who passed away on March 4th, 1985

It's lonely here without you, Mom
I miss you more each day
For life is not the same for me,
Since you were called away.
You worked so hard for many years,
With just one thought in mind,
To help your children while they grew,
The best of life to find.
You gave your all and took from none,
I often wonder how you got the job done,
Mom, you gave the greatest gift in life, you see,
The gift of love, and it was all for free

Until we meet again Mom,

Happy Mother's Day from your daughter Diane

90 IN MEMORIUM

EDITH SAUVE. Dear mother, O happy hours we once enjoyed. God knows how much I miss her. But death has left a loneliness the world can never fill, when in silence we dry every tear. Happy Mother's Day from your loving daughter, Eileen Mondoux.

Entertainment - Special Events & Restaurant Review - By Bill Gallant

We surely have a wide choice of terrific food places for celebrating MOM's big day on Sunday. Read the following and then simply call around and reserve a table or two. If a brunch is what you think mom and the rest of the crew would enjoy then try the spread that GUMBOLINI'S at 33 First Street East is featuring. The Brunch will be available between 10am-2pm on Sunday, May 11, and you can enjoy eggs benedict, roast beef au jus, peel & eat shrimp, baked lasagna, chicken, fresh fruit, assorted salads, also pancakes, french toast and many other items. The evening buffet at Gumbolini's will be available from 4pm to 10pm. It has all your (and mom's) favorites like creole chicken, prime rib, steamed mussels, seafood & noodles, pork stir fry, steamed vegetables, all salads, rolls & butter and assorted desserts. Call 937-3669.

The TOWN HALL at 169 Pitt Street is featuring the start of their Lobsterfest on Mother's Day and they will include a complimentary carnation and dessert for all mothers. Try their fresh steamed lobster with garlic butter and served with rice pilaf & salad. Ask about their special mom's day treat of adding an extra lobster to the meal for a real special price. Town Hall invites all MOM's and families to call and reserve and then join them for a May 11th treat.

Read this early and you can take mom out dancing at the special Mother's Day dance at the LEGION BRANCH 297 on Saturday night. The fun starts at 8:30pm and there's a free gift to all the ladies attending. Its also free admission and everyone is welcome. For MOM's Day the Legion will be hosting a breakfast between 9am-12noon and all female Branch members will enjoy a free breakfast. Its their way of saying Happy Mother's Day.

GEDORO's on Pitt Street is once again doing it up bigtime for the Mother's Day crowd. Its an all-you-can-eat Deluxe Brunch Buffet on Sunday between 11am-2pm. That will be followed with the 3pm-9pm all-you-can-eat Grand Roast Beef Buffet. Both include salad bar, dessert bar and bread bar. There is also the a la carte menu available from 4pm.

Here's a treat with a difference that MOM will truly enjoy, and she may wish to just stay at home and enjoy it with family and friends. Its a DAIRY QUEEN frozen cake or log. Creamy chocolate and smooth vanilla soft serve surrounds a crisp chocolate cookie crunch and rich fudge center. Call the DQ in advance for a cake made to order. The DQ is located at 1307 Pitt Street.

They are setting out something really special for Mother's Day at NEW GARDEN Restaurant & Dining Lounge at 315 Montreal Road. Come in and celebrate on Sunday, May 11th from their delicious all-you-can-eat Chinese Buffet served between 11am-8:30pm.

Here's a great story from the past weekend in Trenton, Ontario. It was the annual Walleye Fishing Tournament on the Quinte and this year the derby boasted over 5000 entries. That's right....5000!!! I was there, on the water at the start at 12 midnight on Saturday. Despite cool temperatures, some rain showers, the sight for townsfolk and visitors was something to behold. If you are not familiar with the area, the Bay of Quinte has a wide expanse just at the bridge in downtown Trenton, and hundreds of onlookers caught a glimpse of the bumper-to-bumper boats all lit-up and heading for their favorite spots. This was my third year at the tourney, and although I failed to catch any size to get me into the top ten winners, we did enjoy the whole scene on the weekend. I can recall during my 3-year term at the Cornwall Council table where I many times tried to create some interest in getting a similar tournament started for this area along the St. Lawrence River. It never got enough support from the Council of the day, but surely someday, someone will recognize the great potential of organizing a walleye or bass derby, with a family theme, for Cornwall. In the few days I was at the Trenton event, the restaurants, marina's and all stores in the downtown enjoyed a steady flow of customers and the whole town was humming. They do the same thing in Peterborough, Orillia's is a whole month long affair, and many other centers. Which reminds me that the annual Lancaster Pike Derby is coming up in a few days and is co-sponsored by the South Lancaster Fish & Game Club and Raisin River Marine Ltd. Its their 9th annual.

Along the way, on Highway #2, is another Mother's Day Restaurant with a special menu for Mom's Day on Sunday. Its a smoke free dining room called the NEW EDGEWATER RESTAURANT. Call for reservations and visit them along the St. Lawrence River, about 100 meters east of Summerstown Road.

You can really put MOM and the rest into the picture when you visit JAZZ MAGNOLIAS during the Mothers Day Buffet specials. A FREE family portrait will be taken on location (one per family). Enjoy the Brunch Buffet with melt in your mouth Prime Rib au jus, baked ham, chicken wings, their famous gumbo, also breakfast & salad bar and much more. Then the dinner buffet has many of those famous items above and also New Orleans Chicken Creole, Mom's favorite strawberry trifle and more.

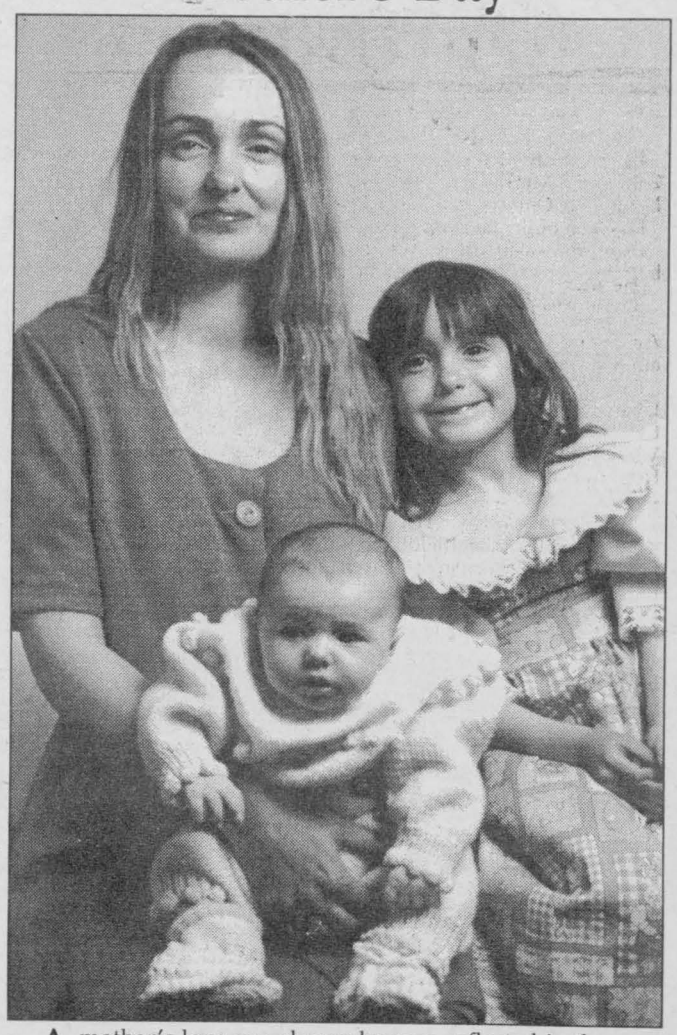
Here's the entertainment over the next few days at the GLENGARRIAN PUB & RESTAURANT - Saturday May 10 its Graham Wright, for "mom", the Sunday music will be by the Brigadoons from 5pm. Then get ready for the return of the Cape Breton Barbarians the following weekend.

Every Saturday the EAST END RESTAURANT serves an Italian-Greek and Canadian Buffet. This weekend of course they will be inviting all to treat MOM to something really special at their Sunday Brunch between 9:30am & 3:00pm. Its an all-you-can-eat buffet with lots of those great May Specials like filet mignon, rib steak, chicken and much more.

And if you only want a quick burger, hot dog or fast take out...THE LOOSE CABOOSE is now open for another great season on Marlborough.

That's our shortlist, now its up to you....don't forget to treat MOM to something special. From everyone here HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY, and G'Day & G'Night.

Mother's Day



A mother's love can always be seen reflected in the eyes and smiles of her children. With this light in front of us, may we all celebrate Mother's Day with a smile and a dream for the future of the children who will follow.
