SEAWAY NEWS

SEPTEMBER 5, 1994 VOLUME 8, ISSUE 36 SERVING CORNWALL AND AREA

September is Big Brothers/ Big Sisters Month

September is Big Brothers/ Big Sisters Month in Canada. Big Brothers and Big Sisters is a charitable organization dedicated to helping in the development of children growing up in one parent families.

The purpose of the program is to match boys and girls 6 to 16 years of age from single parent families with caring, responsible adult volunteers who provide friendship and guidance to the child through this one to one relationship.

Brian Lynch, Executive Director of the Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Cornwall and District indicated that the agency's Promotion and Recruitment Committee has planned several activities for September. "The purpose of these activities is to attract new volunteers into the program as well as to celebrate the service provided to 110 matched children in Cornwall and S.D.&G.," he said.

Lynch stated that one of the major recruitment projects during Big Brothers/Big Sisters Month will be an information night at the local Big Brothers/ Big Sisters office at 101 Third St. West on Wednesday September 21 at 7 pm. "This information session is open to everyone wanting to find out more about becoming a Big Brother or a Big Sister," he said.

The local agency will take part in a pizza promotion at Loeb Seaway throughout the month of September and will sponsor an information display at Loeb Seaway on Saturday September 17.

Other promotional and recruitment activities include: distribution of posters to local businesses, media stories, public service announcements, a Cable 11 program, and speaking to community organizations.

Lynch stated that with the continuing increase in the number of single parent families in our community, the demand on the program has become greater than ever. At the present time, the waiting list stands at 115 children in Cornwall and S.D.&G. 78 boys and 37 girls. He explained, "We are looking for caring, dependable adults who will volunteer a few hours each week to share interests, hobbies and activities as a friend

Volunteering in Canada: A Snapshot

Quick facts from Statistics Canada and Canadian Heritage:

- 13 million Canadians do volunteer work on their own, not through an organization.
- 5.6 million Canadians volunteer time through voluntary organizations and community agencies.
- Canadians contribute over one billion hours to voluntary organizations each year—the equivalent of 617,000 people working full-time.
- The collective value of this volunteer time is $13.2 billion each year.

CANADIAN MILITARY HERITAGE

(NC)—Canada came of age as a nation through its remarkable contributions to allied victory in World War I. Some 800,000 soldiers, sailors and aviators served in the armed forces. Sixty thousand of them died in defence of freedom. At home civilians toiled in rapidly expanding industries and on farms. The defining moment in this process occurred on April 9, 1917, when the Canadian Corps achieved a great victory at Vimy Ridge. Canada's sacrifice was recognized by its independent signature on the peace treaty of Versailles in June 1919.

Lynch further explained, "Project Impact, a program evaluation of Big Brothers Of Ontario released in June of this year, confirms that our Big Brothers and Big Sisters do make a difference in the lives of the young people with whom they are matched. There is a strong correlation between the Big Brothers/ Big Sisters program and improved self esteem and academic success of the children matched."

Any adult in Cornwall and S.D.&G. interested in learning more about the Big Brothers/ Big Sisters program is asked to call the local office at 933-8035 or drop by the office at 101 Third St. West, Cornwall.

Project SPARTA Marks Six Months of Activity

"SD&G is culturally, socially and geographically a great place in which to live," stated a workshop participant.

Project SPARTA reached its sixth month mark by sponsoring a training session in community planning and development for thirty volunteers and team members. The very intensive two-day workshop held at the Cornwall Civic Complex and conducted by Professor David Douglass of Guelph University was specifically designed to meet the needs of the SPARTA volunteer team composed of persons from across SD&G including the City of Cornwall.

The workshop agenda focused on planning and managing community development as well as managing the long term development process. The volunteers, under the guidance of the SPARTA Vice-Chairs, will now participate in the design and delivery of community forums to be held at six locations across the counties in October and November. Times and locations will be advertised in newspapers in late September. The forums will involve interested citizens in visioning exercises where ideas for future growth and development will be exchanged and recorded for strategic planning purposes.

David Douglass clearly demonstrated effective methods used to arrive at successful community input. In fact, during one brief exercise, a list of over thirty major assets found in SD&G communities was drafted. The list, which can be obtained by calling the SPARTA office at 933-8030 clearly demonstrates that we hold the necessary ingredients to develop the great potential found in the region for excellent economic, cultural and social development.

Project SPARTA, with community support, will clearly map out goals, objectives and targets which will translate into projects.

Completing the projects will produce communities within SD&G with a much improved quality of life.

GARDENER'S ROW

By Lois Hole

Pickling Cucumbers & Carrots

At this time of year, our family spends a lot of time in the garage, not cleaning or fixing cars, but making pickles.

At the back of our garage, we have an extra kitchen stove, sink and refrigerator and a long counter. My mother, her twin sister, my Auntie Ann (who everyone, including the staff at the greenhouses, affectionately calls "Auntie") and I gather jars and pots, vinegar and rock salt, while my husband Ted collects the cucumbers from the garden.

Young pickling cucumbers are the best for crunchy pickles, but they lose moisture and become soft within a day or two of being harvested. For people with smaller gardens, finding enough cucumbers for pickling can be difficult, so I often pass on a tip which I have discovered over the years.

Prepare your pickling brine in advance. As soon as you have enough pickles to fill a jar, heat the brine and pour it hot over the pickles. Seal the jar and store it. Within a few days, you should have enough pickles to fill another jar. For best results, try to pickle within 12 hours of harvest.

Harvesting cucumbers regularly keeps the vine producing. Cucumbers should be picked at least once a week to increase the yield. And, with cucumbers, the time of harvest is of the utmost importance. Late morning or early afternoon is best.

Never pick cucumbers first thing in the morning, when the dew is still on the plants, or at any other time when the vines are wet. Cucumber vines are brittle early in the day and easily damaged, and handling wet or damp vines can spread diseases. Because of this, even weeding should be done later in the day when plants are dry.

Pull cucumbers from the stem while supporting the vine with your other hand. Pulling or tugging on the fruit alone can damage the plants. Never flip the vines over; this can injure or kill the plant.

If you are not pickling, do not wash cucumbers before storing them. Wrap them in plastic wrap or tightly in plastic bags and keep in the refrigerator; use within a week.

For dill pickle brine, use 1 cup (250 ml) sugar, 2 cups (500 ml) coarse salt, 6 quarts (5.5 l) vinegar and 10 quarts (9.5 l) water. Boil for five minutes and pour hot into jars filled with cucumbers, dill weed and one or two garlic cloves. Seal well and store.

To add colour, insert whole yellow beans or small carrots into the spaces between the cucumbers before adding brine. These pickles look pretty and make a wonderful gift. We often pickle entire jars of carrots; dilled carrot pickles are absolutely delicious and a favourite of almost everyone who tastes them.

My friend Laura Henry makes pickles from big, overripened, yellow and orange cucumbers. Her colourful pickles are a tasty alternative for cucumbers that are often otherwise wasted.

Lois Hole's book "Nothern Vegetable Gardening" provides helpful tips on harvesting, storing and using cucumbers & other vegetables in the kitchen.

Cornwall's Energy Efficiency Team

Cornwall's Energy Efficiency Team recently spent a week with the City's Parks and Recreation Program. Karen Runions, Education Facilitator, taught about water conservation during Environment Week.

Over half of the children enrolled in the Parks and Recreation Program made "Plungees" (displacement devices for toilet tanks). These devices will allow the household to save 1 litre of water for every flush. The kids also participated in a poster contest. Prizes were awarded to Mandy Lemire (Meadowvale Park), Lasha Stidwell (Memorial Park), and Senta Smiltnieks (Riverdale) at the Parks and Recreation Open House on August 17th.

Karen and another member of the Efficiency Team, Danielle Carr, also participated in the Environmental Craft Workshop, held August 11 at the Bob Turner Memorial Centre. Pictured above are the children making Egg Carton Flowers. A special thank you goes to A&P Food Store, Bookdale Mall for generously donating 24 egg cartons for the event.

The Energy Efficiency Team had a terrific time with the parks and are hoping to participate with them again next year.

Syd Gardiner To Run for City Council

GARDINER

Syd Gardiner recently announced his plans to run for City Council. A resident of Cornwall for 26 years, Gardiner has been involved in the community as a volunteer for numerous organizations, including: Aquatic Centre Committee; Glen Productions; Down Memory Lane; SD&G Resource Centre for Injured Workers; andHealth and Safety Committee at Sears. Aside from these committments, Gardiner has also been involved in minor sports as an umpire and coach.

His work experience includes a salesman for Sears Canada. He is a former Domtar employee and a shift supervisor for Riverside Yarns (Cornwall).

Gardiner says his reasons for running for City Council are as follows:

1. Over the last several years numerous upper management personnel have been released from their jobs. All too often these workers have been given overly large settlements. For the most part these amounts are over and above severance packages and pensions. This drain from the taxpayers pocket must stop now.

2. Gardiner has found the existing City Council to be extra quiet during the city workers strike. There was a great deal of suffering to the strikers and their families and negotiations were poorly handled.

When it became apparent that the city's negotiating committee was ineffective in breaking the impasse, City Council should have then insured that both parties returned to the table until an agreement was reached.

Instead, the doors were closed and one year passed before a settlement was attained. The agreement which was finally attained, should, and could have been reached sooner had everyone bargained in good faith.

3. The Cornwall Aces Hockey team is also an issue which must be dealt with. My understanding of the contract with the Nordiques is that the franchise costs the Cornwall taxpayers 1.5 million dollars per year up front, (franchise fee), then all revenues generated by the Aces go to the City of Cornwall.

The first year of operations netted our fair City (minus) 876,000 dollars deficit paid by the City of Cornwall reserve fund, ultimately from the taxpayers pockets.

The deficit comes from a lack of support for the Aces, which should not surprise anyone for three reasons:

a) That the Cornwall area has 40% of its population on some sort of Social Assistance.

b) The distrust people have for City Administration who agreed to a confidentiality clause .

c) The cost for a family of four is $60 per game, times two games per week, equals $120 per week.

"It seems incredible to me that the taxpayers are asked to fund a farm team of a professional hockey team owned by a multimillion dollar corporation headed by millionaire president Marcel Aubut."

What Gardiner will strive to achieve if elected to City Council is:

1) That a highly concentrated effort be placed on luring long term businesses to Cornwall.

2) To insure continuance of positive programs such as the Water Front Project.

3) To re-new the drive to expand and regain some of the College and University of Ottawa courses.

Our children should have the opportunity for higher education at home, rather than having to travel and lodge in other cities.

4) Since the City has at least a 3 year contract with the Nordiques, Gardiner will support positively, any efforts to ensure that the Cornwall Aces become a viable business proposition.

5) Finally, if elected, Gardiner will strive to ensure that the new Council works as a team to achieve positive results for Cornwall.

The Terry Fox Memorial
A Monument to Canadian Pride

From the streets of populous southern Ontrio, the Terry Fox Courage Highway seems like a long way away.

It is along that section of the Trans-Canada Highway, near Thunder Bay, Ontario, that travellers will find Terry Fox Scenic Lookout and an eight foot bronze sculpture of Terry Fox himself. Many Canadians will remember that Terry Fox ended his Marathon of Hope outside Thunder Bay on September 1, 1980 after a 5,565 km journey that inspired thousands of Canadians from coast to coast.

Terry's Marathon of Hope went on to raise $24.17 million for cancer research before he died in 1981.

"Terry Fox really had something inside driving him on, " said monument sculptor Manfred Pirwitz of Oakville, Ontario. "I don't know what it was, but it was strong." Pirwitz worked to find a sculpture design that represented the spirit and qualities of Terry Fox, among them what it means to be a proud Canadian. The monument bears all the provincial and territorial coats-of-arms and the Canadian emblems of the maple leaf and the beaver. Pirwitz believes the sculpture reflects Terry's ability to bring residents of different parts of Canada together to support his cause.

Over 700 registered guests visit the Terry Fox Monument each day. Ministry of Transportation officials in Thunder Bay estimate the total number of daily visitors to be near 1,000. They are moved by the story of a young man who believed that he could make a difference in the battle to defeat cancer.

One visitor from Seattle, Washington wrote, "Here at Terry Fox's Memorial I feel we have stood on hallowed ground. It has touched me deeply." An English visitor made a special trip to the Memorial. "I came a very long way to see this. It is a very special experience after learning about this courageous young man." Donations are often left at the foot of the monument by those wishing to contribute.

The monument often evokes strong, even poignant reactions from passersby. In 1990, when Berry and Rolly Fox were re-tracing Terry's route on the 10th Anniversary of the Marathon of Hope, they were told that someone laid a blanket over the figure of Terry during a cold winter day. The story brought tears to the eyes of Terry's mother.

The Terry Fox Memorial attracts so many visitors traversing the Trans-Canada Highway that the statue was moved to provide a safer and more accessible location across from its original site on August 9, 1993.

Tax Preparation Course Leads To Rewarding Career

Every year, millions of people pay to have their income tax return filed and completed by others. T.A. Steynor Consultants Limited is again offering courses in Cornwall and in Alexandria starting in September.

Experienced instructors teach tax law, theory and application. Through classroom discussions and practical problem solving exercises, students gain a thorough understanding of different tax topics. As the course progresses, students learn how to handle increasingly complex income tax situations.

Besides preparing students for a rewarding career, the course is ideal for those who want to save money by increasing their knowledge of the income tax system.

DOUG & MAGGIE'S CORNER

By Doug & Maggie Fobert
St. Clair Paint & Wallpaper

This is the time of year when a lot of people are building decks and fences and the conventional method of operation is to build first, and then start thinking about applying a coat of stain. This, however, will cause more work over the years because it is impossible to cover all surfaces with stain once the deck or fence is built, and failing to do so will mean that the stain will not last as long as it could.

You may have noticed that I mentioned stain and not paint as the finish coat. So, before getting into the best way to integrate the building and application of the finish, let me explain why I strongly recommend stain over paint as the best finish for decks and fences.

Previously unfinished wood must be undercoated with primer before a finish coat of paint can be applied. Two finish coats are recommended for paint. That's a total of three coats. With stain one good coat over the bare wood will provide good looks and long life.

Stain is more resistant to peeling than paint. It will peel if there is a severe moisture problem but under normal conditions, as it ages it fades away slowly and thus is much easier to refinish. All you must do to put a new coat of stain on a fence or deck is to scrape away any loose film, scuff sand, and wash with T.S.P. or Gresof and water and rinse well. To repaint a deck, peeling paint must be scraped and sanded and then washed with T.S.P. or Gresof and bare areas spot primed before a new coat of paint can be applied. If the deck is peeling badly, the only way to restore it to good looks is to sand or strip the entire surface: a big job indeed.

A significant difference between paint and stain is price. Top quality stains cost less than top quality paints.

If you add it up: easier to apply, fewer coats needed, easier to refinish, greater resistance to peeling and lower price; the best finish for decks and fences is definitely stain.

There are two types of stain available, solid hide and semi-transparent. Solid hide stains hide the grain of the wood while still allowing the texture to show, while semi-transparent stains allow both the grain and the texture to show.

Some solid hide stains are not suitable for horizontal surfaces. Specifically, it is the stains that are dead flat in sheen. Because they are dead flat in sheen, they mark easily and can track into the house from foot traffic. Use a stain that has a small amount of sheen for a deck and you will avoid the above mentioned problems.

Two important characteristics to look for when choosing a stain are a built in water repellency and a wood preservative. While all stains repel water to a certain degree, the stains with the added water repellency will actually cause the water to bead up on the surface, just like a newly waxed car. The wood preservative helps prevent rot and decay. Both can add years of life to the fence or deck.

The purpose of the stain is more than just to provide good looks; it is also most important to seal out moisture - enemy number one to long life. If you are building a deck, apply a coat of stain to all lumber before you start construction and be sure and stain the ends of any boards cut during the building stage. After the deck is completed, make sure there are no unstained areas. The more thorough you are at making sure all surfaces, top, bottom, edges and ends are sealed, the longer the stain job will last.

For good looks throughout the life of the stain film - whether it's on a deck, fence, or siding - be sure to use top quality stain. There are always cheap stains available, but if you have to refinish twice as soon, what have you really saved?

Want A Good Job? Murder A Cabinet Minister

Cornwall Mayor Ron Martelle has been making headlines again by complaining about a legal system that "coddles" criminals.

He's right, but he has only grazed the edge of the iceberg.

The mayor's complaint centres on light sentences given to violent offenders (or those prone to violence), but he should consider the case of convicted Quebec terrorist Paul Rose if he really wants to raise his blood pressure.

Rose, after being convicted in the 1970 killing of Quebec Cabinet Minister Pierre Laporte, is now sitting in a cushy, publicly-funded job at the University of Quebec in Rimouski while he studies for a Phd and runs as a candidate for the Quebec New Democractic Party.

And he is not very repentant.

According to a recent newspaper interview carried by Canadian Press, Rose says he's still the same man he was in 1970.

"I don't perhaps have the same image today. At the time, the portrait the newspapers painted of me was disproportionate to who I really was."

Oh, really. A "disproportionate" picture?

Rose served more than 10 years for his role in the kidnapping and murder of Laporte, an incident which caused the implementation of the War Measures Act and the suspension of all of our civil liberties. This was no small crime. The government of the day claimed it was combating an "apprehended insurrection". It sent soldiers into our streets, searched houses without warrant and arrested and detained people without charge; in fact, most were released without ever being charged.

Those of us who are not as open-minded as Rose - and the University of Quebec - might consider cold-blooded murder, insurrection and terrorism a crime of some "proportion" indeed.

His re-write of history continues as he explains his decision to run in the Quebec election under the NDP banner.

"It shows that the party lives up to its democratic name, that it's capable of accepting people of diverse tendencies and experience, as long as they have a social conscience."

Democratic? Social conscience?

This is a man, I might remind readers, who belonged to a pitiful cowardly band of terrorists, the FLQ, that regularly planted bombs in mailboxes where they could explode at random possibly killing or maiming any child who might be walking by.

One might think that a man with such a history, with such an unrepentant attitude, would not be considered an ideal candidate for public support.

You might think that society would not reward such behaviour by providing this man with one of the more attractive jobs in our society - working as a sociology professor - where he not only subsists on taxpayers' dollars, but also has privileged access to young minds.

But I suppose there are many young people in need of proper instruction. They might not realize that terrorism, murder and random bombings are all part of the democratic process, particularly for those with a "social conscience".

Those who lament the death of the work ethic in our society need only look to the Paul Rose case to see why.

What were you doing in 1970? If you were like the average Canadian, you were in school or you were toiling away faithfully in an office or in the mines, mills and factories that built this country. You obeyed the laws and you paid your taxes. And, perhaps you naively believed that good work and good service would bring you some special rewards in our society - rewards that would not accrue to those who broke society's rules and thumbed their noses at every concept of common decency.

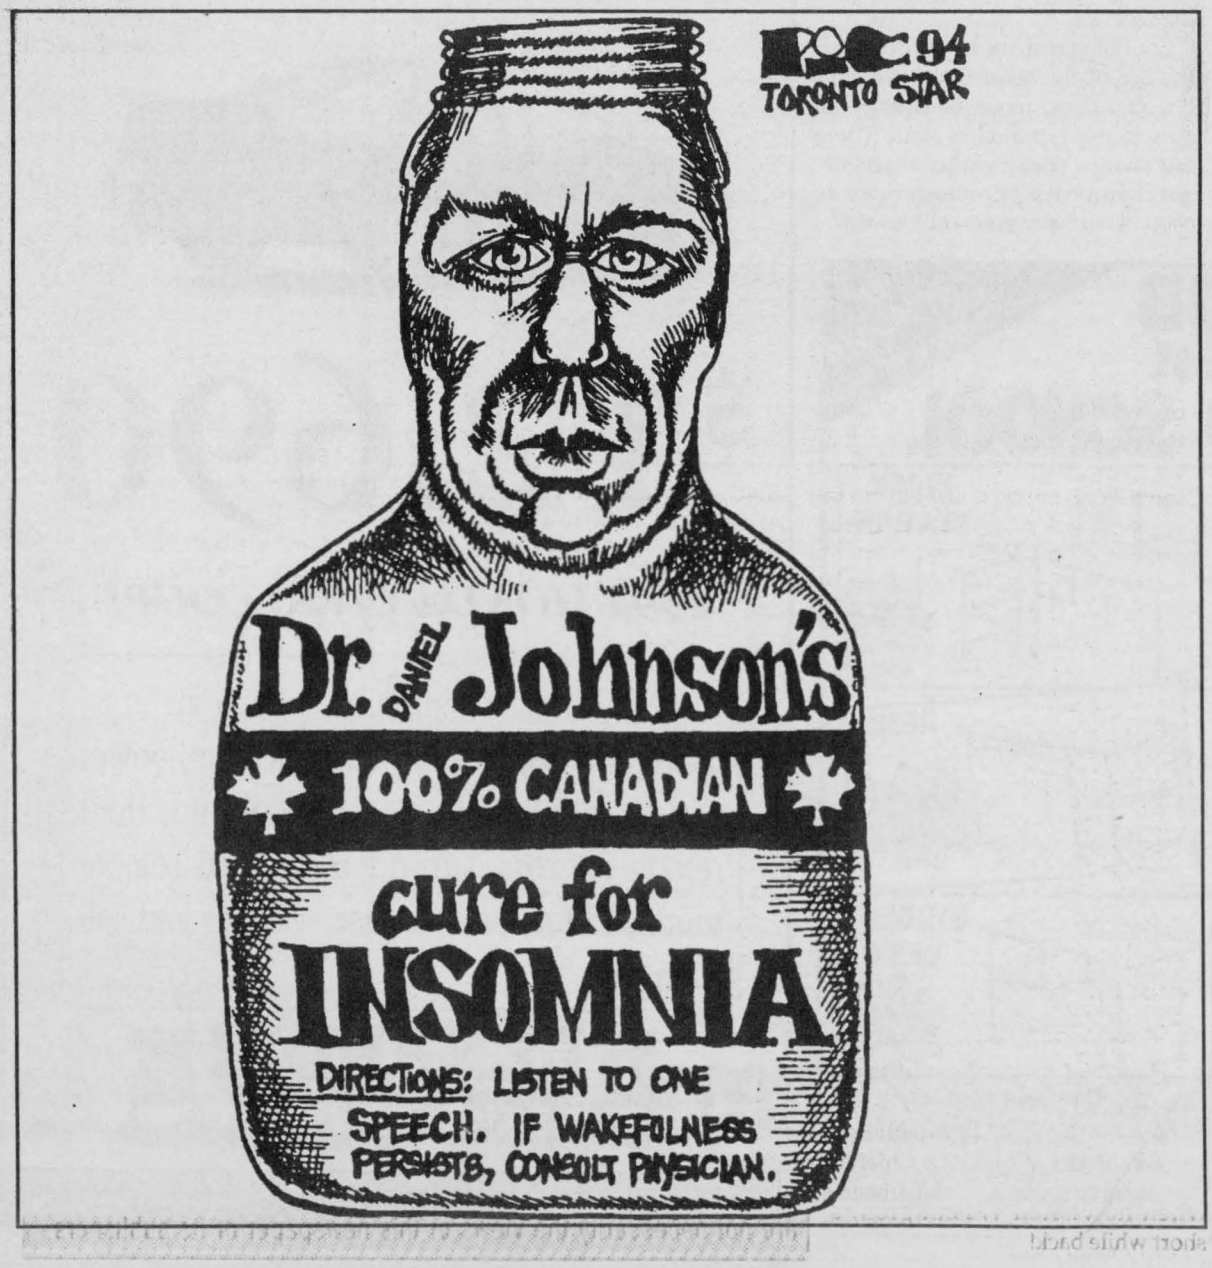
The fate of Paul Rose will shed you of any such illusions.

He's got a better job than the vast majority of Canadians. And what's more, since universities are indirectly subsidized by the federal government, we're all helping to pay his salary.

Keep on working, guys and gals; keep on paying taxes; Paul needs the money.

Feel like a chump?

I do.



MEANWHILE...

Reporters! Be Informed

They've asked me to give a speech to the first-year journalism class at Ryerson next week about how to be a better reporter. I don't know why they chose me, because I'm not really a reporter.

I've hung around a lot of newspapers over the past 25 years or so. I've worked for a few of them. I've even got to know a lot of reporters, some of whom have become very good friends. And you can always be critical of your friends without them taking insult.

But I asked them anyway: why me? "Because you can look at the newspaper field with an objective eye. When you're in it full time, you can't always do that," they told me. I guess this is what happens when you get to write a syndicated column.

Do they really want to hear the truth? I hope so. Well, here's what I plan to tell them: one of the most depressing aspects of reporters-as-a-group is that they tend to be fairly ignorant themselves. There is no excuse for it and there is a complete cure for it.

Read, read, read. At least one good paper a day. Start with the Globe and Mail". It's by far and away the best newspaper this country has to offer. Then read one other paper. Try to switch them around: Monday, the Washington Post; Tuesday, the Christian Science Monitor: Wednesday, the Vancouver Sun; Thursday, the L.A. Times; Friday, the Montreal Gazette; Saturday, Manchester Guardian; Sunday, The New York Times.

. Better yet, read all of them everyday, plus the major papers in Ontario. You should be reading every good magazine you've ever heard of and most of the bad ones. That way, you'll appreciate quality.

Get yourself a subscription to The Economist; it's the best current affairs magazine on the market; it's highly provocative, it makes you think and it used the English language the way it ought to be used. You'll see why Time and Newsweek are so weak in comparison.

Concentrate on opening your mind. Expose yourself to new ideas and constantly think, think, think. Stretch your mind like a rubber band, further and further. The alternative is to let it harden and contract.

I mean all of this. Reporters generally haven't exposed themselves to enough ideas, radical or otherwise, to be able to sit down and write about what they're observing. This isn't being elitist; it's just part of the basic job requirement.

If you're 50 and straight, read Rolling Stone; if you're 25, read something like Reader's Digest. Try to understand the other person's point of view. If you're Liberal, read The Fraser Institute Report; if you're conservative, read Canadian Forum, a left-wing journal.

You must be able to see more and understand more than other people or else you'll never be able to explain things to them in a simple, readable and intelligent way. Or express opinions in columns that mean anything.

Next, learn how to write with flair. Most newspapers are dreadfully boring. Dull. Tedious. Unreadable. No wonder people don't want to read them anymore. Write with passion, even in describing everyday events. You owe it to people. And no excuses: I read lots of papers but I'd rather watch TV news. So fix that up.

Be a people person. There are reporters who can't deal with anybody that's not like them. Spend time around different kinds of people so that they don't strike you as odd. Come to understand them and you'll be so much better for it. And so will your paper and your readers.

In short, get yourself a good education, never stop learning or exploring or engaging in vigorous debate. If you do stop, you'll become tedious and boring. And nobody will want to read what you have to say, which is what's happened to so many of our newspapers today. They have no life or zip.

This is what I plan to tell them, folks. Will they like it? I hope so. It comes from the heart. And from somebody who really loves journalism and who's seeing it fail daily, bit by bit.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

John Q. Public, Stand Up And Be Counted

Dear Editor:

They don't understand! Patronage, favouritism, corruption in high places, bureaucratic bad judgment, Big Government and the greedy super-rich are destroying Canada.

Ordinary Canadians must take action before another depression and world war is required to bail out the super-rich.

The poor and the middle class are not without fault. Our attitude of "I won't tell on you if you don't tell on me" is not working.

Canadian jobs, businesses, savings and profits are being given away by Mulroney-style politicians to multinational corporations, sheiks and offshore intellectual property owners. These politicians and their bureaucrats mouth propaganda in crusade fashion for the rich and when the Free Trade giveaway is exposed, all they can say is "we did it for your own good". They make a fist on our backs with our loose shirt cloth and say "Look how good it fits."

And while the insurance company executives and directors are cleaning out the till, they focus our attention on rights to privacy legislation.

While over one million Canadian jobs are exported to China, Pakistan and Mexico, the super-rich have us arguing over French and English.

While Big Oil concentrates on control of fuel all over the world, we watch Rwandans slaughter Rwandans and Arabs slaughter Arabs.

While the Bobby Raes commit our grandchildren to unmanageable debt, our attention is diverted to a bombardment of publicity for condoms and fund-raising Aids protectors.

While real competition and progress on the phone, TV and computer businesses is removed, our governments pretend that social programs like job retraining and palace-like new buildings for WCB bureaucrats and seniors are solutions.

While banks concentrate immense power in their own hands through lobbying and legislation, the bureaucracies make us believe that gas-sniffing by natives and compensation for WW2 victims deserves our best brain-power.

And while 40% of Cornwall's population have their hands out for the government dole, our local politicians concentrate their efforts on hockey entertainment for 1300 fans at the public's expense.

Policies and actions for the benefit of the majority, for the benefit of all are required. We have to stop deal-making for the enrichment of the few!

Let's start by bringing back the jobs Mulroney and Chretien have exported. Let government buy only what we can pay for. Let competition and free enterprise nurture thousands of small businesses. Let's not tempt human beings with financial, legal or moral power that is inevitably abused. Let liquidation or death come quickly to obsolete institutions like Via, CBC, Hibernia, billion dollar helicopters and stadium builders.

Let's start by "upsetting the tables of the money-changers". Expose the folly of Nafta, Gatt, the information highway, the Post Office patronage at high levels, the obsolete CBC, the bailouts of trust (?) companies, now life companies, the joke of Hibernia, the bridge to P.E.I., the unwanted salvation of natives, the phony government contracts for Hydro.

Expose the wrong! Yes, with the help of honest bureaucrats.

Let's take on the corruption, the patronage, the over-sized government machine and its gluttony; take on over-big Drugs, Oil and TV.

Let those who know support each other. Let's weed out and cut off what's crippling Canada.

And let's build a country where we are free to exercise choice, free to express opinion, free to associate and free to trade fairly within our own borders, where all have opportunities, where all have responsibilities to love and serve in peace.

Sincerely,
Stan Body
Martintown

Child Sexual Abuse

Dear Editor:

I had been debating whether or not to share our story, and after much thought and consideration, and especially in view of the recent increase in child sexual abuse cases in our area, I decided to write it.

The goal of this letter is not to sensationalize child sexual abuse, nor frighten, but rather to alert parents to the reality and the gravity of this problem, and to hopefully protect our most precious resource: our children.

Last October, (ironically enough it was Thanksgiving Sunday), while having dinner, our precious little girl began to describe to us in vivid detail what our babysitter had been doing to her on the occasions that he babysat for us. To our shock and horror, she had been molested on at least five occasions! Needless to say, we believed her. What four year old child could or would invent such disgusting details! Our innocent, little girl had been violated, exposed the subjected to sexual behavious that a child should never know.

There is a lesson here for every parent to learn, unfortunately we learned the hard and painful way. Parents, do you truly know that person to whom you entrust your children? In our case we felt truly blessed, doubly blessed in fact to have our Pastor's son and daughter babysit for us on an alternating basis. Both were good with children, and the children just loved them. Both seemed grateful to be earning a little spending money. The boy seemed like a normal, intelligent 14 year old boy, responsible and trustworthy according to his parents. Why would we have thought otherwise? How can anyone know? There were troublesome signs: bed-wetting, moodiness, frequent masturbation, inability to sleep alone, regression into babyhood, etc... during the end of the summer. I began to suspect that maybe she had been sexually abused but could not figure out who could have been the aggressor, friends would offer that it was just a stage she was going through.

Fortunately, our daughter trusted us enough to tell us, although later on she admitted to me that she felt as though she had betrayed the boy, (he had asked her not to tell her mommy and daddy). I quickly told her that she had done the right thing in telling us, therefore stopping the abuse.

Much to our dejection, he crossed over a line of trust that I doubt could ever be fully restored. We now not only have to live with the consequences of his actions, but also with the feelings of disillusionment and certainly the rejection we felt by our church. We were virtually abandoned. The complete lack of support, compassion and empathy given to us by the church can only be attributed I assumed, to their ignorance of the damaging effects of sexual abuse, any abuse for that matter, on the person as a whole. The whole being of that person, (mental, spiritual, physical, and emotional), is greatly affected, no matter the severity and/or frequence of the abuse. My purpose is not to condemn any religious group but simply to alert people to the fact that Pastor's and/or their children are just as able to abuse as any other person. I am guilty as I am certain other people must be, of placing the clergy and their families on a pedestal, unable to be touched by human weakness and fault just because of their status in a church. That was my weakness.

Healing, mending, trying to pick up the pieces of our lives, the emotional roller-coaster ride, is all so draining. One day at a time we're told, yes and by the Grace of God. Although our trust in man has been greatly and deeply affected, thankfully, our faith in God has not, however there are times when I, as a mother, cry out "why? why?"

Some people say she's young, she'll get over it, although they mean well and are trying to comfort us, they can actually cause a lot of hurt and anxiety by trying to make us brush it off so easily. We do know that in time and with the proper counselling and support of a loving family she will heal from this horrible ordeal, but it is not to the child's advantage to try and minimize or make them forget the whole experience, and never talk about it. The child needs to know that you are there and willing to listen if they need to talk about it.

Unless you have actually been through a similar experience, you can't possibly know how it feels to be so stricken with grief, guilt, and anger, powerlessness, and helplessness of not having been able to protect your child, or take away the fears that he/she feels in the middle of the night. I mean isn't that what we are supposed to do as parents, protect them and take away their hurts?

All members of our community need to be made aware through public education of the devastating effects of the various forms of abuse committed against our children. We need to get armed with information and throw our support behind our children. We need to let our children know that they can come to us and that we will listen and believe them. It is imperative to the child's healing and self-esteem. Just think about it. In a moment of time our young child's innocence was destroyed by this senseless, and impulsive act. We understand that the past cannot be altered but, that does not make it any easier to accept. We understand that the boy is in counselling and has been for some time, and that sometime there is to be an apology made to our little girl by him in the presence of a mediator, but when, we do not know.

Thank you for allowing us to share this painful story with you, we hope that in so doing we have been able to help someone else either in preventing such a tragic event from occurring, or just in knowing that we understand and care.

Name Withheld Because Of Extraordinary Circumstances

A Province On The Brink Of Despair

Dear Editor:

What is true for some is obviously false for others. Québec Premier Daniel Johnson claims it's going to cost the Parti Québecois some 7 or 8 billion dollars to opt out and buy back most Ottawa/Québec programs. It's VERY expensive to go it alone, is it not? Jacques Parizeau claims it would cost ONLY seven hundred million dollars!! Peanuts! After all, it's NOT REALLY Parizeau's money, now is it? An awful lot of people out there say and think that Parizeau, the head honcho Séparatiste, is a brilliant man. After all, he studied in London, England (by the way, so did Mr. Johnson). Fact is, the history books will probably mention Mr. Parizeau as being a brilliant Séparatiste (too polite to say anarchist), but NEVER speak of him as a TRUE Canadian.

Just how brilliant can a human being be? Jacques Parizeau would NEVER qualify as a Father of (even renewed) Confederation, that's for sure! The P.Q. Chief even claims that he got a sympathetic ear when he visited Washington, a short while back!

The Americans, says Jacques, would even HONOUR free trade, in an eventual Free-State Québec! Of course, the USA could not give Parizeau any FORMAL ASSURANCES! When US Vice-President Al Gore visited Ottawa a few weeks ago, he said on CJOH-TV news that Washington preferred a united Canada! I wonder if Parizeau and company were watching? Kind of reminds me of Lucien Bouchard's trip to Paris. The Bloc Chief, seeking French solace and probably a soft blue, white & red shoulder to cry on! So, make a wish ... great scenario! Let's have another Mohawk incident, 1990 style! Let's call in the army; let's put on a leash all the Bouchards, Parizeaus, Brassards, Campeaus, Bélands, etc. and let the hunting season begin! Open season on traitors! Great sport. Only in Canada you say? Pity!

Truly Yours,
André Pettigrew

Treason

Dear Editor:

Treason! Has this word been removed from our vocabulary to accommodate the Bloc Québecois and other separatist elements in Québec? The Webster dictionary describes the word as follows: Treason 1) sedition. 2) treachery or betrayal. Sedition: illegal stirring up of discontent against government; acts or language disturbing the public peace or unity. Why then, are we not prosecuting these people instead of putting them in Parliament and paying them big salaries to tear our country apart? Mr. Bouchard says when he has a separate country, he would collect his pension from Canada. Ha! He thinks he can plot the downfall of our country and then receive benefits from it. I would like an accounting of how much of my money goes to support this traitor and their radical views and demand a refund. Long live Canada with Québec.

Reducing Ontario Hydro's Debt

Dear Editor:

Over the past two years several developments regarding Ontario Hydro have occurred affecting thousands of Ontario workers. Maurice Strong says he has reduced the annual debt of Ontario Hydro from three and a half billion to a profit of $7 million. 10,000 jobs have been eliminated. Cuts of another 1500 are imminent.

It has been suggested that 100 million tons of weapons grade plutonium from 4500 dismantled Russian and American nuclear warheads can be safely burned in Candu reactors in Ontario. These reactors are more suitable than light water reactors in Europe and Japan. Our federal government recently announced a $600,000 program funding environmental groups opposed to disposal of nuclear waste deep in the Canadian shield. The site now exists near Sudbury where international scientists are studying neutrinos until the year 2000 when hydro pulls its heavy water from this hole 2,000 metres underground. It is uncertain this waste can be safely transported here. Currently, hydro plans to ship a billion cubic metres of low level nuclear waste from southern Ontario to the Chalk River district. Some sites near here are leaching radioactive waste into lakes and the Ottawa River.

Bob Rae and his cabinet have already approved the $73 million expenditure of hydro to buy into a Peruvian power utility. Hydro plans to invest about $200 million over several years in projects worldwide. A proposal to buy up to $15 million worth of rainforest in Costa Rica has been put on hold. Ontario Hydro's contribution to the buyout of the newsprint mill at Kapuskasing could cost Ontario taxpayers $247 million.

While the Ontario Hydro workforce has been slashed the past couple of years, its board of directors added on 6 new positions. These were filled by big business & multinationals ... those who might gain in hydro's investment in 3rd world countries. Since 1989 hydro has spent $16 million subsidizing high efficiency motors to replace regular motors in industry.

Let's hope a new government will make Ontario Hydro accountable once more and remind them their mandate is to supply Ontario customers with quality service at reasonable rates. Ontario Hydro sold Americans almost as much power last year as Hydro Quebec ... surplus power at just over half the rate Ontarians pay. We currently have the second most expensive electricity in Canada.

Quebec After Separation

Dear Editor:

Doesn't it make you feel you'd want to move to Quebec, away from this confederation that blocks your way to prosperity? At least that's how I feel as I listen to Mr. Bouchard and Mr. Parizeau's campaign promises.

Somehow I am getting the impression of being left behind should I decide to remain in Canada.

More like I am going to miss the opportunity to be part of a free society in a liberated country. A country free of everything. Free of misery and unemployment. Free of inflation and high interest rates. Free of high taxes and health care user fees. Free to collect higher welfare benefits, even if I were young, strong and healthy enough to be working. Free to speak any language as long as it is French.

This newly liberated country will be an example to the entire world. The PQ government will provide its citizens with the best service ever, as the bureaucratic force will quadruple, with the relocation of thousands of civil servants from Ottawa to Quebec City.

Residing in Quebec with low housing prices, the Quebecois will be able to work tax free in Ontario where they could earn higher wages. Isn't that a great money saving scheme?

As a Quebecois, I shall be free to chose between taking Sun in the South, or fish without restrictions in the Canadian Labrador waters. I shall still be using Canada's dollars as well as the Canadian Passport, to enjoy world wide Canadian Government's protection wherever I decide to get in trouble.

There will be plenty of money to satisfy the needs of everyone, rich or somehow less rich. In fact, Mr. Parizeau will make sure to have the Canadian government come to its rescue in case of an over zealous financial goof. The Canadian government will always be compelled to subsidize major projects, such as the 2002 Olympic Games in Quebec City, unless it is willing to risk losing the extra $6 billion in business, Quebec is buying more than it sells. The Quebec government might just decide to take that business somewhere else - Bosnia or Rwanda, maybe.

No doubt about it. Life in an independent Quebec will be a "Paradise on Earth", the envy of the North American continent as well as the entire world.

Unfortunately there is only one thing that holds me back. I am being haunted by the fear that in case of a new world economic crisis, hundreds of thousands of envious illegal emigrants from Canada and United States (not to mention Cuba or Haiti) may invade the "Super Prosperous Country" and all my dreams will dissipate on thin air.

Oh well! ... There is nothing to worry about. I am sure in such a case, Mr. Parizeau will use his unrestrained imagination and find some way to impose on Canadian government to subsidize their integration in the Quebec labour makret, while "Les Vrai Quebecois" will be able to spend year round vacationing in Florida. Like in the old days when Canada was still their "Intolerable Country".

Renovations At Kinsmen

Dear Editor:

I would like to respond to the article of August 16th, regarding the renovations at the former Kinsmen School.

I have great difficulty understanding the reasoning for the transferring of former Kinsmen students at mid-term (March) to the John Sandfield MacDonald School. Would it not have been an easier transition for Gladstone students to transfer to John Sandfield MacDonald? What is the reason for not keeping the Kinsmen name rather than Gladstone Annex? After all, if not for the efforts of the Kinsmen Club in 1964 for initiating the funding and the Optimist Club for providing the furnishing for the Kinsmen Schol, the building would not have been a reality. What an insult to the Kinsmen and Optimist Clubs. The purpose of this school was to support the needs of exceptional children.

The former Kinsmen students were transferred to their new "isolated" location in mid-March. There is still no fence surrounding the school and no playground. This is a tremendous burden on the teaching staff and parents. Students must remain inside or depend on the staff to supervise their every move. This new "isolated" location will not make it easy for the students to be active members of the community.

No longer are the students within walking distance of community activities which are so instrumental for their daily functional and social skills. Community events will be more of an effort to plan and further apart, now that transit must be involved as opposed to walking to several destinations. No longer will the community easily witness the opportunity to learn and experience the courage and spirit of the Kinsmen students.

It is comforting to hear that the windows and ventilation system at the former Kinsmen school will be updated to current safety standards, now that my grandson will not be enjoying the new safety facilities. How odd that the former Kinsmen building was acceptable for the former students but not for the future Gladstone students.

I feel that the changes were not necessarily in the best interest of the Kinsmen students. This is without a doubt a step backward not only for the students, but for the community at large. What a shame! This grandparent gives changes an F!

On Prayer And Compassion

Dear Editor:

In Seaway News August 22, E. Harold Rice Ph.D. states that he has four university degrees. He may have these degrees but he fails to comprehend the importance that prayer can have in one's life.

He said in his letter that I claimed to refuse compassion to a dying patient.

In the letter he refers to, I wrote than another Christian nurse and I would pray at night to give us compassion to care for our patients.

In over twenty years of nursing, I never refused compassionate care to a patient regardless of what disease he or she had.

I just could not do that.

Yours Truly,
Mary Sproul

A View On Quebec

Dear Editor:

Sept. 12, 1994 — an important date for Québec and for Canada!! And the beat goes on ... as goes the song; Même chose (IDEM) with the long list of Séparatistes-Souverainistes-Anti-Canada traitors that are coming out of the woodwork, on a daily, even hourly basis! The countdown is ticking. Sept. 12 is the date. Here are but a few more JUDAS names to add to the long list: All Parti Québecois candidates OR "already-in-place Marxist-Leninists, ALL Canada breakers ... PS/In my opinion, ALL Commies!

It's nice to be polite but one must speak his mind..! Richard Le Hir, Michel Legère, Bernard Landry, Guy Chevrette, Serge Deslières, Raymond Bréard, Gérald Godin, Monique Simard, Gérald Larose and Company, Robert Perreault, Diane Lavallée, Jean Rochon, etc., etc. On the Montreal scene and throughout Québec, I would say that better than half of the Artistic and Cultural Community have Séparatiste "Aspirations"!! They obviously regard "the rest" of Canada as the ENEMY!! To say the least, I find their ideology kind of weird!! Like: making a country out of Québec; forming a Québec Army; PLUS hoping to get recognized by the International Community and the United Nations. You wish!!

Yours Truly,

HOROSCOPES

September 4-10

ARIES – March 21/April 20
Family issues will be a concern in the beginning of the week. You may have to play the role of mediator between two estranged loved ones. Give an unbiased — and diplomatic — opinion when asked about sensitive issues. A misplaced item will show up in an odd place.

TAURUS – April 21/May 21
Career-oriented Taureans will be faced with an important decision this week. Be sure to carefully weigh the pros and cons before making any changes. Your feelings of resentment towards a family member may be unwarranted. Look within to better understand your frustrations.

GEMINI – May 22/June 21
Even if you feel comfortable with a new situation, don't take a lax attitude. Be alert and open to new ideas and concepts. A relationship that seemed hopeless takes a step in a positive direction. Wednesday and Thursday are good days for signing contracts or agreements.

CANCER – June 22/July 22
Just when you thought you were an expert in your field, a colleague shows you a new and improved way of doing something. You'll feel intrigued and annoyed at the same time. A feeling of déjà vu will give you a peculiar feeling on Saturday. Good news comes in the mail.

LEO – July 23/August 23
You'll have to juggle a multitude of tasks this week — at work and at home. Being organized is the key to success in this situation. Avoid spending. Money owed to you may be delayed, causing cash flow problems. A new romance is possible with another Leo.

VIRGO – Aug 24/Sept 22
Tact and diplomacy will be necessary to get through a conflict at work this week. A friend may come to you for financial help. Think twice before parting with hard-earned money. In the love arena, don't make promises you can't keep. A news event will pique your interests.

LIBRA – Sept 23/Oct 23
You'll find recent worries were unwarranted. Now you can tie up loose ends and settle into a new environment. A new sense of freedom gives you a feeling of euphoria. A good time to find bargains on household items. Librans love beauty, and those who are into art collection will find something special.

SCORPIO – Oct 24/Nov 22
Plans may be cancelled at the last minute. Even if you feel disappointed, there is a bright side. You'll hear news about a long-lost friend and feel reminiscent. Perhaps it's time to get in touch with people from your past. You can look forward to an enjoyable weekend.

SAGITTARIUS – Nov 23/Dec 21
The small amount of help you offer a family member goes a very long way. An increase in your energy level will help you get through a busy week with ease. You'll be able to accomplish a lot more than usual. A stroke of luck could lead you to financial gain on Friday.

CAPRICORN – Dec 22/Jan 20
Your creativity will be recognized. You may even have the opportunity to profit from it, especially if you put your persuasive talents into action. A love relationship will have its ups and downs this week. Try to be fair in your judgment and controlled in your emotions.

AQUARIUS – Jan 21/Feb 18
A friendship you thought had broken will be resumed shortly. You'll realize that time heals all wounds. A social event in which you are involved turns out to be a great success. An overwhelming feeling of confidence will make you shine on Saturday. You'll attract many admirers.

PISCES – Feb 19/March 20
You will be kept fully occupied without making any spectacular headway. Although frustrating, you'll see the pieces fit together eventually. A spur-of-the-moment trip this weekend will bring your fun-loving side to the surface. Your sense of humor is a joy to others.

YOUR BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
The next 12 months:
A year of personal growth and self-awareness. You'll find a new, more optimistic, side of yourself and realize that there isn't much you can't do. Virgos in creative fields will find personal pleasure in their crafts, while those in business, law and finance will prove to be leaders in what they do, too. There may be some disappointments in romance, especially this winter. But you won't have to wait long until a new love sweeps you away. A major family event could take place this coming spring. Long-distance travel and social engagements will be plentiful this year, especially in the summer.

BASIC BLACK

By Arthur Black
SEAWAY NEWS

If Cooperstown can have a baseball museum and Montreal can have a humour museum, how come there's no museum of animals?

Animal heroes, I mean. We've had plenty of them. Never mind the celluloid canines like Rin Tin Tin and Lassie and King of the Royal Mounted.

How about Bibs? Bibs was a Laura Secord style canary who lived in Hermitage, Tennessee in the home of an elderly lady. One day the woman took a tumble and hurt herself badly. Bibs, who was out of her cage at the time, flew out the window and down the street to a neighbour's house where he flapped and cheeped at the window until the neighbour took the hint and went to investigate. Bibs saved Old Aunt Tess's life at the cost of his own. He died from the stress of the incident.

Or how about Comanche? He was a quarterhorse who fought the battle of Little Big Horn. Comanches job was to carry one Captain Myles Keogh through the fray and he did it admirably - even though the horse took seven wounds, three of them serious. Nevertheless when the smoke cleared, only one participant wearing US Calvary colours was still standing and that was Comanche.

Life got better for Comanche right after that. He became a US military legend with a special army order permitting him free wandering at any army post, lots of parades and absolutely nobody allowed to climb on his back.

Or how about Jack the porpoise? There's a nasty stretch of water called the French Pass off the coast of New Zealand. A century ago, sailors had an unusual way of negotiating the passage - they followed a porpoise who led them through the tricky reefs and currernts. From 1871 until 1903, "Jack" as he was known, met and guided every boat that came.

Right up until The Penguin.

The Penguin was a passenger ship that appeared at French Pass in 1903. As Jack set off in the lead, some drunken fool of a passenger leaned over the bow and shot him in the back.

Fortunately Jack recoverd and resumed his non-paying pilots job. For the next nine years he guided every ship that appeared at the mouth of the French Pass - with the exception of one.

The skipper of The Penguin always knew he was on his own.

There are plenty of animal heroes down through history if you just know where to look for them. As a matter of fact, I've just discovered another one - Hachiko, by name.

Hachiko went some time ago to the Big Dog Kennel in the Sky, but before that Hachiko was a golden brown Akita bitch, who lived with her master in downtown Tokyo.

Although she died nearly 60 years ago, Hachiko is still a hero to millions of Japanese. They line up to view her taxidermied carcass in the National Museum. You can buy books, plaques, statues - even movies and CDs about Hachiko.

Hachiko came to her hero status honestly. She used to walk her master - a commuting professor - to the train station every morning. Every evening when the train came back, Hachiko would be on the platform waiting. But one day in 1925, her master collapsed and died at work.

That evening Hachiko waited on the platform long after the last passenger had departed and the train had gone.

No master.

The next evening, disembarking passengers saw Hachiko waiting again.

And the next night.

And the next.

Hachiko met the train, winter and summer, rain and heat wave, every single evening for the next ten years. Her loyalty never waivered. She never forgot.

Hachiko died in 1935 and was buried beside her master. There's a statue to her at the train station where she waited for a decade for him to come home. An important statue? You bet. When the station was rebuilt and modernized in 1948, the architect had to design the station around the statue, so that it wouldn't be disturbed.

Hachiko never forgot. Neither, it seems will the Japanese people.

Seems the stores in Gananoque will be open seven days a week, all year, according to a ruling passed down by the Town Council recently. One wonders if we really need to take away the few special family holidays we have left.

The worst risk of all is not daring to take one!!

If you want to see a movie with unadulterated American B.S., you must see "Iron Will!" It's a dog sled race from Winnipeg to Minneapolis ... and guess what? An American wins ... and an 18 year old, at that!!

SOME OLD FOLK WISDOM FROM THE U.S. CONCERNING BABIES.

- A couple who go to a picture show within three days of getting married will have twins.
- Labour pains can be eased by putting an ax under the bed.
- To have a boy, a woman should hold a nickel in her mouth at the time of conception.
- Pretty babies become ugly adults, and vice versa.
- The child will grow up with a disposition just like that of the first person who takes her outdoors.
- On your first visit to a new baby, kiss the soles of her feet for luck.
- Burn the first dirty diaper, and the child will have no stomach aches.
- The first time you dress your baby, use old clothes. New clothes will bring bad luck.
- Set the baby behind the front door for nine mornings, and she will learn to walk sooner.
- To ease teething, rub the baby's gums with fresh rabbit brains.
- A fretful child can be calmed by holding her out in the rain for a few minutes.

If you're dog-tired at night, it may be because you growled all day.

With regard to the problem of motorists parking on the side streets, one wonders why they don't park in their driveways. It's like going through a maze trying to get through parked cars; morning and evenings, when driveways are empty or have only one car parked there.

The Cornwall Aces bid farewell and best wishes to Allen Cresswell, former Director of Communications and Public Relations. Allen and his family are moving to his hometown of Wawa, Ontario to pursue a career with a Wawa Community newspaper. Temporarily replacing Allen is Aces' Sales and Marketing Representative, Marianne Long.

Golfer's lament: "To put" is to place a thing where you want it. "To putt" is a vain attempt to do the same thing.

Traditionalists are pessimists about the future and optimists about the past.

With the baseball strike, possible hockey players' strike, and a near miss of a beer strike, one wonders how many joyous women there are out there. Maybe there's a chance they can get some work done around the house, or some quality time with the family.

A few weeks ago Fred Sagel, who is a syndicated columnist; while writing on the law profession made reference to a book from the "local" library. Many people called the Cornwall Library looking for this book. They don't have it. The confusion arises because for Mr. Sagel, "local" means Kitchener, his home town and from where he writes. Sorry for the inconvenience.

Cystic fibrosis is one of medical science's mysteries. Why does the body produce mucus 50 times thicker than normal? This mucus produces fatal complications, yet there's still no cure. Support CF research.

A little bird tells us Clarence Adams may be planning to seek a seat on the School Board representing Newington.

Has anyone noticed the deplorable state of the Canadian flag at City Hall lately??? I assume that's what it's supposed to be! Where is our national pride these days?????

If you live in Athens, you get to drive downtown only every second day. People with even numbered license plates get to drive on even numbered days; odd numbers on odd numbered days. (That's Athens, Greece, not Athens Ontario).

With regards to the clean up of the St. Lawrence River between Cornwall and Lake St. Francis. The local environment group has come up with 79 ideas to clean up the river, but what about the air and soil pollutants. We need to eliminate these before we can start on the river!

Congrat's to Terry, one of Coco's girls ... she's been seen wearing a gorgeous new smile ... with the ring to match! Be Happy!!!!

The registration list grows at City Hall. Bringing the registrants to 12 for Alderman, are Gilles Diguer, Norm Lalonde, Stacey McBain and Naresh Bhargava.

Caller says she saw on TV that a guy in the states was charged and taken to court by the American S.P.C.A. for killing a rat in his back yard. No wonder we have so many problems in this world. Animals, including rodents, which carry all kinds of diseases, seem to have more rights than people. Thank God, the case was thrown out of court.

CANADIAN MILITARY HERITAGE

(NC)—Since colonial times conflict and the armed forces have played a major role in shaping Canada as a nation. Early settlers contributed militia service in support of regular forces of the mother countries—and later to Canada's own defence forces. Without their courage and sacrifice in numerous battles both before and after 1867, Canada would not have survived as an independent country. Additionally, the armed forces play a major unifying role in a nation fragmented by geography and diverse cultures.

Insect bites and stings

Reaction to insect bites and stings varies from minor itching and swelling to severe allergic reaction which can be life-threatening. Treat immediately and watch for allergic reactions.

WHAT TO DO

- Wash area with soap and water.
- Remove stinger by scraping across with fingernail, credit card or blunt knife – avoid tweezers or squeezing as this will release more venom.
- Apply ice or cold cloth.
- To relieve itching, apply calamine lotion, baking soda paste, meat tenderizer or antihistamine cream.

ALLERGIC REACTIONS

Most reactions occur within 15 minutes, but may be delayed up to 24 hours.

Signs of allergy
- Hives over entire body.
- Swollen face, lips, tongue, eyes.
- Itchy face and chest.
- Difficulty breathing.
- Dizziness, fainting, vomiting.
- Drop in blood pressure.

CALL FOR MEDICAL HELP IMMEDIATELY. Lie victim down, cover with blanket, elevate feet, check breathing.

If you're allergic to bee, wasp, hornet or fire ant stings, always carry adrenalin kit and use immediately. Ask doctor about shots to reduce sensitivity.

Precautions
- Avoid areas known to attract insects – flowers, shrubs, woods, swamps, orchards with ripe fruit.
- Destroy insect breeding sites if possible.
- Use wasp and yellow-jacket traps.
- Avoid scented shampoo, hairspray, soap, cologne.
- Cover up and wear closed shoes.

Our People Fund Gives $1000 To The Heart and Stroke Foundation

Our People Fund, a Bank of Montreal employee charity, recently donated a cheque for $1000 to the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Cornwall.

The money was part of a larger campaign, which was collected from and by Bank of Montreal employees through direct donations, payroll deductions and fundraising events. The 1993 Campaign collected $1,324,000 and it has been distributed to more than 800 charities across Ontario.

"Today's economic circumstances and social cut-backs, have put a lot of pressure on social agencies who rely on donations," said Susan Sutcliffe, Account Manager, Main Office, Cornwall. "Every bit helps and I'm proud to have presented this cheque to the Heart and Stroke Foundation on behalf of Our People Fund."

Since its inception in 1975, Our People Fund has donated more than $7.5 million to local charities, including United Way. Year after year, the average pledge has increased by more than 5%.

Our People Fund is the registered charitable organization of the Ontario-based employees of Bank of Montreal. As a registered charity, its sole purpose is the collection of funds to help others. The Fund is organized and administered solely by the employees of the Bank and is independent of any corporate donation policy. Employees raise money by holding an annual campaign each Autumn and with imaginative fund-raisers, such as Executive auctions, bake sales and Monte Carlo nights. Employees also give money through payroll deductions. Every dollar donated to the Fund is sent, 100% to those in need. The Bank fully supports these efforts by paying all administration costs. Many employees wish to support local community organizations and therefore the Fund allows each employee to designate their charities of choice.

Canada Employment Centre For Students

The Canada Employment Centre for Students officially closed its doors August 26, 1994. The Centre will reopen again next year some time in May. The exact date is not available.

The Centre placed a total of 1023 students this past season. A 24% increase from last years 828 placements. "We are very pleased with this years numbers," says Priscilla Strable, Student Employment Officer for the Centre. "It couldn't have been done without the employers who hired the students." 99% of the job vacancies that were placed with the centre were filled.

They reached their goal of 1000 students on August 11, 1994.

Student jobs are very scarce at the end of the summer as students are preparing to return to school for the fall. The Centre would like to take this opportunity to wish all students a very successful 94/95 year. They hope to service even more employers and students next summer.

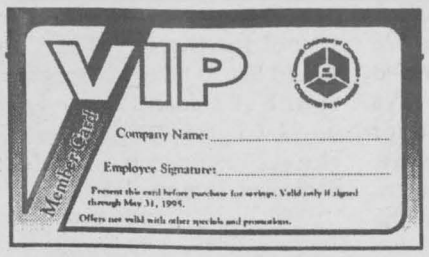
Chamber of Commerce UPDATE

Chamber VIP Card



This October, your Chamber will be launching a new and exciting program as another added benefit to your membership, called the "Chamber VIP Member Card". This is an initiative which will provide valuable discounts to all of your employees. We encourage you to be one of the fifty Chamber members, who will register to participate and provide various discounts to the 7500 cardholders of the Chamber VIP Member Card. The 50 businesses will represent a healthy cross-section of our business community. This "VIP Card" will be valid for a period of one year and will contain a listing of all discounts at the participating businesses for quick and easy reference. This program will enable all holders of the Card to visit your business and the 49 other participating businesses and take advantage of the savings offered.

This is an exciting opportunity for you, as a Chamber member, to increase customer traffic and enhance your business relationships with your fellow Chamber members.

The advantages of joining this program are numerous.

They include:

• You will see an increase in tangible dollars in your cash register as a result of your membership in the Chamber.

• The name of your business and the discount you are offering, will be prominently displayed on 7500 cards, which will be issued to every employee of every Chamber business.

• You will provide your employees with the opportunity to take advantage of many valuable savings, when they themselves are the consumers.

• You will receive posters to display in your place of business which will list all 50 participants and the various discounts.

• You will be provided with signage which will highlight your participation in this exciting program to the consumer.

• Your business will be included in the "Chamber VIP Member Card" promotional package.

The cost to participate in this year long program in only $100.00. If you would like to participate or have any questions do not hesitate to contact either Lezlie Strasser, Executive Manager of the Chamber or Chris Savard, the Chamber's Sales & Service Representative, at the Chamber Office at 933-4004.

The program is designed to foster further business relationships within the Chamber membership. We at the Cornwall Chamber of Commerce strongly believe that our VIP Member Card will be a popular addition to our exciting line-up of Chamber programs and we strongly urge you to take advantage of this exciting opportunity.

New Training Fund

The Cornwall Chamber of Commerce is truly "Committed to Progress". The Chamber of Commerce has added yet another benefit to your Chamber membership.

The Chamber is committed to the pursuit of better education for all our members and their employees through the initiation of an Education Training Fund. The Chamber has allocated $20,000 to be invested into the future of our membership. Words, advice and general support are no longer good enough, because the Chamber is serious about making the business community a true success story.

The Chamber considers training to be a necessary investment to ensure that its members and their employees have the skills and knowledge to deliver their services to their customers. This Training Fund will also provide these individuals with and opportunity to develop to their full potential. In this contest the Chamber of Commerce will subsidize the costs of training it deems essential.

The Training fund is designed to nurture the process of combining instruction and practice to give your employees the additional skills, knowledge and expertise necessary to do their present job more efficiently and effectively. The new skills and knowledge acquired will enhance their performance, help their career and provide the basis of preparation for competing globally.

Each Chamber member in good standing is eligible to apply for subsidization for any of its employees. The Chamber will fund up to a maximum of 50% of the individual's tuition fees. Each Chamber business may receive up to a maximum of $300. Any member in it's first year of membership may receive up to a maximum of $100. An application form, which should explain how a particular course or training session will benefit the employee in regards to performing his/her present job, has been included.

This new initiative recently received the full support of the Chamber's Board of Directors. Shortly after this meeting, Director Andre Pommier, Chair of the Education Committee said, "Our Chamber of Commerce is committed to our membership. We are showing leadership by funding enhanced education and training, which will make our community much more competitive. Being the only Chamber in Eastern Ontario offering this unique initiative definitely puts us on the leading edge. As we know, the 90's are a time where service is so vital to the success of any business, what better way to make it happen. We are here for our members and we are ready."

So we urge you now to take advantage of this great opportunity for you and your staff. This is a very important step for the Chamber: Let's make it a success story. If you have any question regarding the Training Fund in general, more information can be received by calling the Chamber office at 933-4004.

CORNWALL COLTS JR. "A' HOCKEY CLUB

Training Camp! Bingo! Booster Club!

From 69 players to 30, three days of training camp, a successful blue and white game, and an exhibition game in Hawkesbury...all these events combined to make for a hectic first week of hockey season in Cornwall.

The Colts coaching staff, executive, and volunteers should be commended for running a virtually problem-free training camp. Players and parents from out of town noted how well the Colts' organization represents the friendly "Seaway City".

Saturday, Sept. 10, sees the Colts hold a fundraising Bingo at Nativity Hall, at 7pm. We invite all our fans to join us for fun and cash prizes.

The Colts Booster Club will hold a general meeting on Mon., Sept. 12, at the Water Street Arena, at 8pm. All current members, plus anyone interested, are urged to attend as the new executive will be voted in. The Booster Club lends tremendous support to your Colts. Bhatnagar Wins Singles and Doubles Tennis Championships

The highly successful 33rd Czechoslovak-Canadian Tennis Tournament was held at the prestigious Tennis 13 Club (once the site of Canada's Davis Cup match), August 27-28, 1994. While Canadian tennis could use all the help it can get, as the sport is plagged with sagging fan and sponsor interest (as shown in the recent Players International and Matinee International), the Czechoslovak-Canada tournament was rich in sponsorship. Almost eighteen companies actively sponsored the event.

BHATNAGAR

Alena Bhatnagar of Cornwall wore down her opponents in singles 6-0, 7-6, (7-5) over Sylvia Zvolanekova; 6-0, 6-2 over Alice Blumova; 6-0, 6-2 over Slavka Saad; and in the final 8-3 over Magda Kacirova. Due to shortage of time, the ladies single and double finals were played as best of 8 points instead of best of 3 sets. After claiming the singles title, Bhatnagar joined with Sylvia Zvolanekova to win the ladies doubles 8-0 over Lande Jirava and Eva Kardova.

Bhatnagar has played the tournament the past 5 years and has always reached the semi finals or finals. She has won the singles and doubles in 1989, 1992 and 1993. In 1993, she won the triple crown (winner of mixed doubles that year with Roman Potocek).

The men's singles title was won by Zdenek Bukal 6-1, 6-4 over Karel Svoboda, brother of hockey star Peter Svoboda. Svoboda beat Roman Potocek of Cornwall 6-3, 6-2 in the quarter finals. The men's singles consolation title went to Michal Lash who defeated Tomas Kucera 6-4, 6-4 in the final.

Men's doubles winners were Martin Palco and Ivan Rohan over Zdenek Bukal and Ivo Radechovsky 6-4, 6-3. The mixed doubles part was won by Mat Palco and Martin Palco over Jara Born and Sylvia Zvolanekova 6-3, 6-2. The Men's 45 title went to George Vit 8-3 over Alain Bardoux and Men's 55 to Vlad Kocman over Milan Labovan 6-0, 7-5.

The Junior Boys championship was a hard fought battle with Nick Polasek winning 4-6, 7-5, 7-6 (7-4) over Tomas Kucera.

The tournament director was the famous Montreal tennis veteran Standa Skala.

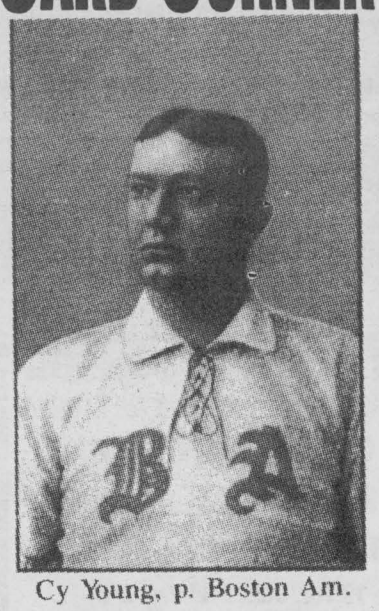
THE CARD CORNER by Phil Erwin



Cy Young, p. Boston Am.

When the scholarly Society for American Baseball Research polled members for "retroactive" Cy Young Awards, ol' Cy himself came up as winner of the first three in the American League, 1901-03 ... CY YOUNG led the league in wins those first years of the new league, with marks of 33-10, 32-11 and 28-9 ... Denton True Young, called by teammates the "foxy grandpa" late in his career, ended up with a 511-316 record, the inapproachable lifetime leader in both wins and losses ... His 1909 Baseball Caramels card, catalog E90-1, is worth about $800 today ...

THE CARD CORNER by Phil Erwin

Golfing great LEE TREVINO made quite a debut on the senior PGA Tour in 1990 ... He was voted Player of the Year and Rookie of the Year, and was the leading money-winner ... He won seven titles and finished in the top 10 in all but two of 28 tournaments ... He is a self-taught golfer, playing and caddying after dropping out of school, through service in the Marines, and hustling on courses in his native Texas ... The popular and friendly Trevino made it big with his U.S. Open win in 1968 ... His titles include another U.S. Open win, two British Opens, a PGA and a "Skins Game" win ... The 1991 Pro Set card sells for about 50 cents ...

Oddfellow Links Off To Pinecrest

In their first game of the Pinecrest Invitational Tournament last weekend, the Cornwall Links met up with the East Nepean Eagles and the outcome of the game was not so good for the Links, dropping a 13-1 loss.

On Sunday, the Links met up with Hunt Club (who in a previous tournament tied with the Links). This time, after a close game and good pitching duel, the Links came out on top with a 9-6 victory to advance to the "B" final against Kanata.

After a short break between games, the Links took to the field once again. These teams were evenly matched with no runs scored until the third inning, when Kanata went out in front with 2 runs. The Links came back with 1 run in the 4th.

In the top of the 5th inning, an electrical storm developed and the teams were removed from the field. After waiting for nearly an hour for the storm and rain to let up, the organizers and coaches decided to end the game as it stood after four innings and awarded the win to Kanata. The Cornwall Links came home with individual trophies for the "B" finalists.

THIS WEEK'S FEATURE BUSINESS
Central Heating and Ventilation

Attention to detail combined with a quality product ensure that Larry Delgreco will be able to practice his first love in business - sheet metal work.

The president of Central Heating and Ventilation considers sheet metal his main line of work but he's also gone into other items to make sure he will continue his trade. These include gas and oil furnaces, conversions, heating, ventilation, air conditioning and welding.

Delgreco, a native of Sudbury, Ontario moved to Cornwall in 1983 and started his own business on Boundary Road in February, 1993. Since then, he says, he has provided employment to four people on a year-round basis and up to three more on a seasonal basis.

The company carries three different brands of furnaces including Bryant, Armstrong and Grimsby - all of them quality products that will stand the test of time.

"Service is the key in my business," Delgreco says. "When I go out to do a job I want to do it once and do it properly. I believe in quality work."

The busy season for heating is just getting started and he advises that, if you wish to look at changing your heating system, you should get on the phone to him as soon as possible.

From that first phone call it can take up to three weeks to get a heating system up and running.

The first step in the process is assessing the requirements of the home by taking a heat loss calculation and looking at the basement for the possible location of a furnace. After that it's a question of determining what kind of furnace system best meets your needs.

"Generally, in the country I recommend oil because the gas lines are not there, while in the city I usually suggest gas," he says. "But that depends on whether there are any lines on the street. If the gas line is not there I will recommend oil or propane."

He says that, from a financial point of view there is not much difference in price between gas and oil, although gas is just a little cheaper.

"Oil furnaces have come a long way in the last 20 years," Delgreco says. "Some gas furnaces are as high as 90 percent efficient, but oil furnaces are getting up there as well."

All his products offer a one year parts and labour guarantee and a 20 year guarantee on the heat exchanger, the main element in a furnace.

While considering a new furnace, Delgreco also recommends a heat recovery ventilator which will not only change the air in the home but will also recover up to 80 percent of the heat that may leave the home.

"The system really pays for itself because it heats the outside air coming into the house without using any electricity," he says. "We especially like to do this in new homes because everyting is so well insulated."

A bonus to the system is that it solves any condensation problems in a house. As Delgreco says, "it gives the house a chance to breathe and controls the amount of air coming into a home."

Entertainment - Special Events & Restaurant Review - By Bud G. Knight

What's happening to the entertainment business these days? It used to be a supply & demand industry, that is, the more folks wanted they would provide. Well, the people want to see the Expo's and the Jays, but the owners and players continue to wrangle over who gets how much and the poor fans are totally disregarded. Now the NHL owners and players are having a similar dispute and they threaten to rob the fans of the usual start of the hockey season and possibly even longer. It doesn't matter that we would like to watch the Leafs, Canadians or the Mighty Ducks, either on TV or at the rink. In the Ottawa area the LYNX are filling the gap and attracting over 10 thousand to their games. We can switch our support here in Cornwall to an alternate as well. Let's all get behind the ACES and the COLTS for the upcoming season and to hell with waiting for the PRO'S (what a misnomer) to settle their arguments. Training camps are an exciting time for players and fans alike and once the pre-season schedule starts, you can start enjoying some great entertainment. It's happening at both the Water Street Arena and at the Civic Complex, with exhibition games, including the Blues vs the Whites. So watch for the dates, buy a ticket and let's hear you cheering on our very own Stars On Ice.

With the cooler weather settling in, that could mean the action around the various outdoor patio's will soon fade away. There is still time though to enjoy an evening out and catch the fun at the BACKSTAGE Patio and get ready for the next big attraction on September 30th when BACKSTAGE will present Forever Young, a tribute to Rod Stewart at the Civic Complex eatery and meeting place. More later.

If you plan on heading out Alexandria way someday soon, you can join the folks at THE HUB OF GLENGARRY, Restaurant and Pub on Main Street. They offer a wide variety of steak and seafood delights, including the TABLE D'HOTE every Friday and Saturday from 5 pm.

It's been a while since we reviewed some of the movie fare that's available locally, so here goes. There are some great first run films now showing at the Brookdale Cinemas at the Brookdale Mall. In Cinema-One it's the much talked about NATURAL BORN KILLERS at 7 pm and 9 pm. In Cinema-Two you can watch FOREST GUMP with Tom Hanks at 6:50 pm and 9:20 pm and you have a couple of choices in Cinema-Three with THE LITTLE RASCALS showing at 7 pm and then the Bruce Willis flick COLOUR OF NIGHT starting at 9 pm.

We had some difficulty making contact with the folks at THE PORT for their current offering, but you can usually count on a top running film and maybe next week we will have room to review something in detail. By the way, if you haven't been out to a movie recently, why not make it this week. It's more exciting that watching the action on your small TV screen and you will also enjoy the time out.

Talented actor and singer Elise Dewsberry is featured in NINE MONTHS, a musical comedy opening at the Upper Canada Playhouse until September 18th. Dewsberry is accompanied by accomplished performer, composer and lyricist Leslie Arden.

NINE MONTHS is a unique tour-de-force in which one actress creates three very different women with one thing in common - they're all pregnant. As the three women make their visits to the obstetrician, we live through the various experiences of their expectant conditions. Hilariously funny, the show is an entertaining celebration of life.

The comedy was penned for Dewsberry by the renowned Carl Ritchie, an actor and playwright whose works are widely produced for theatres from Rangoon to Soho. Music for the piece was provided by Stephen Woodjetts, an artist who wears many hats, including actor, musical director and director.

Reminder time again! If you own or operate an entertainment or dining place and would like a plug in next week's space, give us the information in time and we'll do the rest. Leave the info. at the Seaway News office on 2nd St. West. Until next week G'Day and G'Knight.

Last Week:

- Single moms living with a man more than a year, could lose benefits if government agrees with municipalities.
